CHURCHILL ADMITS NAZIS HOLD FRENCH NAVY

LONDON, June 25—The powerful French navy goes to Hitler and Mussolini as a major war prize.

The mystery veiling the fate of the French fleet was dispelled by Prime Minister Winston Churchill today in a speech to the House of Commons. He said:

"It is clear that French war vessels under this armistice pass into German or Italian control fully armed."

Churchill made no reference to the actual whereabouts of the fleet but the inference was plain that very few, if any, units had fallen into British hands by individual action of crews or commanders.

HITLER GETS FRENCH NAVY, CHURCHILL HITS TREACHERY

LONDON, June 25 (AP)—The French government under Marshal Petain went back on its "most solemn assurances" to Britain that the French fleet never would fall into German hands, Prime Minister Churchill charged in the House of Commons today.

Churchill, making his sixth war report, said France had agreed to dispatch her fleet to British ports while armistice negotiations were going on.

He said he had made it perfectly clear that the British intended to continue the fight, and had also made it plain to the Petain government the conditions indispensable to their release from their agreement with the British had not been complied with.

Foes Get Fleet Fully Armed

He made no reference to the whereabouts of the French fleet at present, but said "it is clear that French war vessels under the armistice pass into German or Italian control fully armed."

A dispatch from Alexandria, Egypt, said units of the French fleet, stationed at that British naval base, flew their flags at half mast today in compliance with a French government order for a day of mourning.

This dispatch indicated that thus far these French ships have not obeyed the reported stipulation of the French-German armistice that all French naval vessels return to home ports for disarming or internment. However, Prime Minister Churchill's statement was the first positive assertion that the French fleet would go to Germany.—Editor's note.

The Prime Minister disclosed that he had refused a request of Premier Paul Reynaud to release France from her obligations as an ally.

AGREED ON U. S. PLEA

Churchill made the disclosure after telling Commons:

"We hope to rescue France from the ruins of bondage into which she has been cast."

The meeting with Reynaud, he said, was at Tours, the first substitute capital after Paris was abandoned.

"We agreed," said Churchill, "that a further appeal should be made by M. Reynaud to the United States, and if the reply was not sufficient to enable M. Reynaud to go on fighting—and he, after all, was the real fighting spirit—then we should meet again and take a decision in the light of the new facts."

"The safety of Great Britain and the British Empire is powerfully, though not decisively, affected by what happens to the French fleet," Churchill said.

Called to Tours by Reynaud June 13, Churchill said, he learned after his departure that Reynaud had been overthrown.

FRANCE ASKED RELEASE

He said the Bordeaux government had given some accounts of that meeting "which do not agree with the facts."

He added that a record was kept by one of the cabinet secretaries.

"On June 16," Churchill said, "I received a message from M. Reynaud who had then moved to Bordeaux, which said that the American response was not satisfactory and requesting a formal release of France from her obligations of the Anglo-French agreement."

"It was then that we agreed that a further appeal should be made by M. Reynaud to the United States."

Churchill said many solemn assurances were given him that the French fleet would never be allowed to fall into German hands.

STILL FIGHT FOR FLEET

Churchill disclosed that France had agreed to dispatch her fleet to British ports while negotiations were being conducted.

Rumanian, Red Troops Clash

BUDAPEST, June 25 (AP)—Unconfirmed reports of clashes between Russian and Rumanian troops at several places along the Danube river frontier awakened new concern in Balkan capitals today lest the war spread on the eastern Europe.

AND A NATION FALLS—Making history as he wields his pen, Gen. Charles Huntzinger, French plenipotentiary, affixes his signature to the German dictated armistice in the historic railway car in Compiègne forest. Rear Admiral Le Luc, one of the other French emissaries, sits sadly at right, his hands folded.

JAPS SEND FLEET TO FRENCH, DUTCH PACIFIC COLONIES

TOKYO, June 25 (AP)—Japan sent an undisclosed number of warships to the French Indo-China port of Haiphong today amidst reports that she might attempt to declare a "protectorate" over the Far Eastern territories held in the name of conquered France and Holland.

The admiralty announced that the ships were dispatched from the China fleet "to observe the movements" of vessels suspected of carrying munitions and supplies destined for China.

An admiralty spokesman said the vessels would remain only until the arrival of Japanese inspectors assigned to watch for arms shipments to China.

An agreement reached between Tokyo and the Indo-China government last Thursday provided for such inspectors and stipulated that they might be transported from Canton aboard one minesweeper, but French sources here said they were ignorant of any plan to send any other ships.

The admiralty stressed the temporary character of the dispatch of the warships and said the vessels would rejoin the China fleet as soon as the inspectors arrived. The spokesman said he believed the warships would not enter French territorial waters and that they would not detain foreign shipping.

Nazis Open Blitz in Air On Britain

Germany heralded the fall of France with a brassy bugle call today and struck at her remaining foe—England—with a hurricane of bombs almost before the triumphant trumpeting had died away.

Waves of German bombers, in the widest forays of the war, thundered over Britain from London to the northeast and penetrated to the west coast over Wales and northwest England, dropping explosives at many points, while British fighters and anti-aircraft gunners struggled to bring the raiders down.

FRANCE'S DAY OF GRIEF

Despite the extent of the areas attacked, however, only three civilians were killed and 13 injured, the government announced.

London itself had its first raid alarm since the first weeks of the war, but the government said that there were no casualties and damage in the capital area. No bombs were reported dropped.

The drone of planes was heard, however, and at least one was picked out by a searchlight.

The "cease firing" orders that came, as scheduled, six hours after France yielded to Italy, created dramas of differing sorts among the conquerors and the conquered. The end was at 1:35 a. m., German and Italian time. (5:35 p. m. Monday, Boston time.)

France in sorrow ordained this a day of national mourning.

In Germany, there was noisy exultation.

Hitler was extolled as having brought to a grateful Germany her most glorious victory.

NAMES COMMISSION

Hitler himself, in a brief proclamation, declared:

"In humility we thank God for His blessing."

Meanwhile, Hitler, in another dramatic gesture apparently designed to wipe out bitter memories of 1918, designated Wiesbaden—headquarters of France's World War army of occupation in the Rhineland—as the seat of a new German-French armistice commission.

Gen. Heinrich von Stuepel was named chairman of the commission, which will be charged with "governing and supervising the execution" of the armistice terms of which are to be published in Berlin evening newspapers today.

It was expected the French would notify Berlin today of appointment of its commission. Informed sources expected the commission to hold its first meeting next week.

These sources said the commission would limit its work strictly to German-French armistice affairs and would not deal with Italian aspects of the situation.

A special Italian-French commission, they declared, will be established to work separately on the execution of the joint German-Italian armistice provisions agreed upon by Hitler and Premier Mussolini at Munich.

In his jubilation order, Hitler ordered that the bells of the greater Reich be rung for seven days and that the national flag be displayed for 10 days to mark the triumphal

INVOCATION—Standing in prayer, the entire Republican convention hears the Rev. Albert J. McCartney of Washington, D. C., deliver an invocation which emphasized the deadly shadow under which the convention meets—that of war abroad. Picture was taken from the rear of Convention Hall looking toward the speaker's platform.

YOUTHFUL G. O. P. KEYNOTER SETS CONVENTION ON FIRE

By AUSTEN LAKE

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, June 25—Until Governor Harold E. (Too-Young-To-Be-President) Stassen of Minnesota stood under the battery of overhead arcs and delivered his keynote speech into the amplifiers, this Republican convention had sat bored and apathetic. There had been no whoops, no aisle parades, no artificial frenzies and the great auditorium had lulled itself into a state of torpor by the anesthesia of Chairman John Hamilton's dulleries and the borsome routine of the day's business.

But now as Stassen, broad, blond and burly, strolled toward the microphones, the 16,000 people lifted their heads like wind-swept clover. They peered curiously, listened skeptically as Stassen's clear, articulate baritone began . . .

"Our forefathers erected here a great lighthouse of liberty . . . It is our responsibility to keep it burning brightly."

It was a leisurely voice that warmed slowly to its theme. It seemed like customary stuff.

"We still have ten millions unemployed . . . shrunken incomes . . . forty-five billions of indebtedness . . ."

The crowd lolled back, heavily lidded.

HE LIGHTS A TORCH

And suddenly with rising crescendo and a steel bite in his voice Stassen said:

"Let us announce here and now that we have faith in the future of this Nation and its way of life."

There was that in his elocution which invited enthusiasm; the crowd, lifted from lethargy, responded to his cue. For the first time some one had lighted the wick of their interest and men waved their hats, stamped a little and subsided.

It was deftly done by a young and personable man who is being obviously hoisted toward a later day candidacy. "It isn't a pleasant duty," he soothed, "to criticize governmental authority" and then he went on to do it in a rising scale of detailed invective . . .

"He (President Roosevelt) first placed some bungling member of his administration in charge of vital problems of military production."

HE BUILDS THE CLIMAX

Stassen was building toward a canny climax here and like a violin virtuoso he approached his major theme:

"A terrible indictment that for many crucial months the important War Department has been disrupted by tragic conflict of authority, with a Secretary of War and an assistant secretary,"

Willkie Foes Boost Hoover GOP Chance

PHILADELPHIA, June 25 (AP)—Contrasting cries of "we want Willkie" and "stop Willkie" supplanted today the cheers which Republican convention delegates accorded their keynote speaker's description of the New Deal as a failure.

The delegates dropped their lively hotel-lobby discussion of the presidential nomination long enough to hear Gov. Harold E. Stassen call on Republicans to advance on four fronts—preparedness, fifth column defense, economic welfare and general governmental effectiveness.

But they scarcely had left the convention hall shortly before last midnight when the candidates and their campaign workers renewed their private appeals for votes.

As the "war on Willkie" grew in intensity, the chances of former President Herbert Hoover to gain the nomination were seen gaining ground.

Supporters of Senator Robert A. Taft and Thomas E. Dewey worked feverishly to nail down their pledged delegates against inroads claimed by the forces of Wendell L. Willkie, New York utility executive.

A spokesman for Senator Taft asserted that the Willkie boom had actually "struck a snag" and was slowing down. An anti-Willkie statement came from eight and west member of the House of Representatives. They said the party would have to stand on the record its members had made in Congress and that Willkie could not conform to that record.

100 VOTES CLAIMED

Dewey told reporters it had been difficult for him to find where the reported Willkie support had been "largely translated into delegates." Willkie lieutenants, nevertheless, kept their claim of first-ballot strength of about 100 votes and predicted a majority after a few ballots. They said no effort was being made to get first-vote pledges from delegates previously committed to other candidates.

Gov. Ralph Carr of Colorado, who had said a few hours earlier that his state delegation was wide open, was added to those who will second Willkie's nomination.

In the belief that the mush-rooming campaign has been too disorganized, some of Willkie's aides drew up a plan for a strategy committee.

OTHER CANDIDATES BUSY

Rep. Bruce Barton of New York, one of the managers, commented that the drive "is like having Uncle Tom's Cabin playing in a barn and then transferring it to a big hall without any chance to rehearse."

The race for the nomination was by no means confined to Dewey, Taft and Willkie. A half dozen other candidates remained active.

Another element also was making

Salem School Post Choice Deadlocked

The Salem school committee today postponed until July 8 their efforts to choose a principal for the high school after eight hours of unsuccessful voting and a total of 192 ballots.

After four recesses, the committee adjourned at 4 a. m. today. They have been in continuous session since last night at 8 o'clock. The post to be filled is that left vacant by the death of J. Frank Day.

Harbor Defense Bill Asks $100,000,000

Tossed into the hopper of the state Legislature today was a bill providing for a $100,000,000 development of Boston harbor for defense and commercial purposes.

The bill, filed by Rep. Enrico Cappucci of East Boston, calls for financial co-operation of federal state and private interests in the elimination of unused and tax-burdened property from the waterfront.

DEVER HIT IN CIG TAX RULING

Inaccuracies by Atty-Gen. Paul A. Dever's office today prevented the public from voting in referendum on Chapter 454 of the Acts of 1939, which provides taxes on cigarettes and various excise, income and franchise taxes.

The full bench of Supreme Court ruled, in a decision prepared by Justice Henry T. Lummus, the Attorney-General had failed to describe correctly certain provisions of the law in the referendum signature blanks for distribution among the voters.

As a result of these inaccuracies, said the Supreme Court, the voters might have been misled as to certain aspects of the law.

CALIF. MISLEADING

The decision came in allowing a petition for a writ of mandamus, brought by William H. Evans and others, to compel Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook to refrain from submitting the referendum to the people next November.

The petitioners claimed that the referendum had never been completed and that the description of tax act in the referendum papers was misleading; also that the proposed law is not one subject to referendum.

The Attorney-General, in his answer, contended that the act is a proper subject for referendum.

Under Massachusetts law, the Attorney-General is required to describe the statute which is under referendum question, but the Supreme Court ruled that in two instances in this tax law, the Dever descriptions were faulty.

TAX ON TAX

In the matter of legacy and succession taxes, it was pointed out in the decision, the Attorney-General had given the impression that the new statute provided for an added tax on the property involved.

In reality, the decision stated, the new proposed tax in the 1939 statute is but an added percentage of the original tax and not on the principal.

The attorney-general also failed, according to the Supreme Court, to describe properly the tax on foreign and domestic business corporations.

The question raised by the court here was whether the public would know that certain public service corporations are included in the tax law.

Under Massachusetts law generally, the words "business corporations" do not cover certain public utilities concerns.

Biddle Sent To London Post

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP)—Future relations between the United States and the Pétain ministry in France were beclouded today by transfer of this country's temporary diplomatic representative, Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, from Bordeaux to London.

Secretary Hull announced yesterday that Biddle had been ordered to London to resume his duties as ambassador to the exiled Polish government.

Biddle has been the State Department's only link with the French government since it quit Paris. Ambassador William C. Bullitt elected to remain in the French capital, but the Nazi capture of the city cut him off from communication with the Pétain government. There were reports yesterday that Bullitt had arrived at Bordeaux, but State Department officials said they had no word from him.

Rail Shares Edge Forward

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP)—Ralls held precariously to an advanced position today in a stock market which otherwise slipped by fractions.

Traders generally sat on the sidelines and the rate of dealings was extremely slow.

Among leaders on the decline were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Caterpillar, duPont, Glen Martin, American Water Works, Public Service of N. J., North American and Loft. Resistant were Santa Fe, New York Central, Great Northern preferred, Chesapeake & Ohio, Phillip Morris and Montgomery Ward.

Man Held In Border Kidnaping

A mother's daring leap from a moving car with her 7-year-old daughter in her arms was climaxed today in Federal court with the arraignment of a New Hampshire lumberjack under the Lindbergh kidnap law which provides life imprisonment for kidnaping.

The defendant, Almon W. Corliss of Contoocook, N. H., arrested by Winchendon police and turned over to G-men after a complaint by Mrs. Beatrice Laroche of Winchendon, was held in $20,000 bail for hearing on July first.

U. S. Atty. Edmund J. Brandon told U. S. Commr. Howard W. Robbins before whom Corliss was arraigned, that the accused man intended to commit a criminal act.

Corliss, who pleaded not guilty to the charge, is the first man in years to come before the court here under the Lindbergh act which is invoked when alleged victims are carried across state lines.

The mother told authorities a story of fighting off an armed motorist from whom she and her seven-year-old daughter, Janet, had accepted a lift home.

The man sped by her home and when she protested, he drew a gun and threatened her, she told officers. During a struggle, she wrestled the gun from him and threw it on the highway.

With Janet in her arms, she leaped out of the car, while the motorist sped on, she told police.

THE GREAT PROFILE'S SO HUMBLE

HOLLYWOOD, June 25 (AP)—There are, says John Barrymore, at least 10 better actors on the screen than he.

Now there's no use of rushing into a situation like this without giving you the build-up, so hold your hats because we're coming to the curve. John was chewing scenery whooping it up until it almost collapsed and he wound up his dizzy assault on the art dramatic with a howl-doing glance at his appreciative audience.

BRASH SUGGESTION

There was among this audience on a sound stage a handful of young movie players, gathered to see how a Barrymore does it, or, as one cynic put it, "gets away with it."

There also was a newspaperman who, as you'll learn in half a jiffy, made a brash suggestion. Said he to the Great Profile:

"See those youngsters — why don't you charge them a dollar an hour for lessons in acting. Make 'em pay to come in here and watch you and donate the money . . ." (He was going to add "to the Red Cross.")

Barrymore might have been struck in the chin. He drew himself to a greater height, so as to look down upon the worm who had made such an idiotic suggestion.

"That—that would make me the most conceited ass in Hollywood," he stormed. "Why, there are any number of extremely fine actors worth watching for pointers. Why . . ."

"Name ten," interrupted the worm, turning slightly. And did John do so? He did, forthwith.

PUTS LIONEL FIRST

He put his brother Lionel first, because "with competition like that in the family I prefer to be gracious rather than argued with."

And the others are Spencer Tracy, George Sanders, Paul Muni, Henry Fonda, Roland Young, C. Aubrey Smith, George Raft, John Carradine, and Maria Ouspenskaya.

Maria, said John, transcends any sex difference in the art of acting "and is an example for both men and women to follow."

Whereupon John went back to his favorite diet—scenery.

Harry Wein Heads Mass. Order of Eagles

NORTH ADAMS, June 25 — Amid discussions of old age pensions and patriotism, the State convention of the Massachusetts Order of Eagles moved to a close today with election of new officers. Unopposed for state president was Harry Wein of this city. Also nominated were Francis Bourque of Ipswich, for vice president; Francis Quinn, New Bedford, for inside guard; and Michael Foley and William J. Murphy for secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Timilty to Appoint 30 New Policemen

84 Win Practice In U. S. Court

In a crowded federal courtroom, 84 Massachusetts lawyers, including three women, were admitted to practice in United States courts today.

At the opening term of the summer session, Judge Francis J. W. Ford addressed the new lawyers, sketching the history of American federal law from its inception in 1789.

The women admitted to federal practice were Margaret M. Comey and Marion E. Gage of Boston, and Catherine L. Begley of Salem.

A new federal grand jury was impaneled at the same time in the ceremonies in which Judge Ford, Judge George C. Sweeney, U. S. Atty. Edmund J. Brandon, U. S. Marshal J. Henry Goguen and Clerk James S. Allen took part.

SHELL A DUD SO 203 ARRIVE ALIVE IN HUB

Carrying an Italian anti-aircraft shell imbedded in a head of Swiss cheese, the American Export liner Exochorda, her passenger capacity badly strained, arrived in Boston today from Mediterranean ports.

With a normal passenger capacity of 132, the ship carried 203, with some of them working their passage as stewards and stewardesses. Practically all passengers were Americans fleeing the war zones.

The Italian anti-aircraft shell became an unwelcome possession when a battery on a hill near Genoa harbor let go at a French reconnaissance plane the night Italy declared war.

One of the shells, a dud, dropped on the after-deck of the Exochorda, tore through the deck floor and into the hold, where the big head of cheese received it.

GET BAD SCARE

Capt. Wenzel Habel said his officers had to quiet many of the 100 passengers who then were on board, nearly half of the passengers insisting upon donning and wearing their lifebelts, despite assurances that there was no danger.

Italian naval authorities, said Capt. Habel, came aboard and explained that the anti-aircraft battery had been firing on the French plane which came over the harbor on June 12 at 11:30 p. m.

Everett E. Lewis, member of the Interdenomination Sudan Interior Mission, with headquarters in New York, said on his arrival that he saw the plane fly high across the harbor and vanish behind a hill, where a large oil refinery was located.

The battery began firing and the plane reappeared, scuttling across the harbor in the direction of France.

HOLE IN DECK

Lewis, who spent 10 years in Africa and the last two years in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, said he thought he saw the plane drop bombs behind the hill. He is traveling with his wife and two children, returning to their home in Chicago.

The hole in the deck, made by the dud shell, was about one and one-half feet across and members of the crew covered it with a steel plate.

Bishop Ralph Hayes, rector for the past five years of the North American College in Rome, was another passenger on the vessel, and he landed in Boston for an audience with Cardinal O'Connor.

He said war had forced the closing of the college for the first time since its establishment in 1859. There were 130 American students evacuated, he said, and he was late to leave.

Holdup of 20 In Club Revealed

Identification of two of four alleged holdup men held by Boston police today revealed the armed robbery last Saturday of 20 persons in the 500 Voters Club, a Columbus ave. social organization.

Victims told police that four armed men entered the club Saturday afternoon, lined 20 members present against the wall, took more than $200 in cash and striped two diamond rings from the fingers of a woman.

According to police, one of the men held has turned informer, admits driving a quartet to the club, and names two of the men taken by police as his passengers. While en route to Station 4, police said, the man who told of driving to the club was attacked by one of the suspects.

Believing the men part of a gang involved in holdups elsewhere police notified other cities and towns.

New Britain, Ct. authorities immediately dispatched officers to Boston to view the suspects in connection with recent armed robberies there.

Girl Swimmer Puzzles Police

The strange case of a pretty blonde who was pulled out of the Fort Point Channel after a 45-foot plunge from the Broadway bridge was being probed today by South Boston police.

The girl, recovering at City Hospital, identified herself only as Muriel Foley, 21. Police quoted her as saying that "she wanted to go for a swim." Beyond that, she declined to talk, police said.

GIRL, 4, KILLED BY CAR

Dorothy Benard, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Benard, Jr., of Forest st., Melrose, died at Maplewood Hospital, Malden, of injuries suffered when she was crushed by an automobile in the driveway at her home.

Wire Services Again Snarled

Magnetic disturbances, for the second time in six weeks, disrupted communications today, with northern New England the area most seriously affected.

Telegraphic typewriters were halted by the disturbance for several minutes, and in some areas, particularly eastern Maine, static on telephone lines, normally zero, increased to the point where conversation became almost impossible.

The disturbance six weeks ago was attributed to the northern lights. It was predicted at that time that disruption would again be experienced "within a few months."

STASSEN SPEECH FIRES CONVENTION

each playing favorites, hardly on speaking terms with each other." The big hall was a silent vacuum now. The layers of Stassen which had stirred and eddied restlessly before, hung motionless as Stassen edited his words crisply between his teeth. And now he played his first emotional ace.

CROWD ELECTRIFIED

"By politically timed appointments, on the eve of this convention, of two men of our Party to the Secretariats of the Navy and Army," he said, weighing his words, "the President made an . . . eleventh . . . hour . . . confession . . . of failure . . . in his national defense administration." This electrified the crowd. Stassen paused to let a sucking growl run through the house, growing gradually to a vast burst of voice. They were up in their seats now, a sea of waving straw hats, crowding the aisles, an epidemic of hysteria which mounted while photographers climbed the rails and snapped their black boxes. The convention had come alive. Here at last was sign of vitality and the convention soaked it up.

AUDIENCE SHOUTS: "NO"

"... startling proposal of the President last week," went on Stassen. He had "on his pocket now," "... that all boys and girls in this country between the ages of 18 and 20 be compelled by the government to enter federal training camps . . . the method of Hitler and Mussolini and Stalin. But it is not the American way . . ."

The crowd was vocal for the first time and anxious to vent its feelings.

"No—no!" they shouted in unison, as Stassen put the rhetorical question, "Dare this nation continue for the next four years under such leadership?"

They laughed, the higher pitched feminine shrills mingled with male basso Ha ha's as he observed:

"Too long our foreign policy has been a big noise and little stick. We need a calm, resolute voice and stiff stick."

It wasn't witty, but they liked it!

Behind his back high in the blue-draped stage a glass enclosed mezzanine of radio booths were sending the voice country-wide to millions of homes.

On either side of the central platform, built like the bridge of a battleship 850 newsmen jotted down his speech and tubed it downstairs to waiting telegraphers who tapped it to the nation's breakfast editions. Seething sarcasm ("Appointment of wealthy playboys as foreign ministers and ambassadors." A vigorous dig there for Jimmy Crowswell.) A head wagging warning ("An end to the great autocratic powers that make a small governmental minority rules makers, investigators, witness, prosecutor, judge and jury all lodged in the same bureaucratic hands." A leaf from Wendell Willkie's gospel there.

For the better part of an hour and a half Stassen talked, lulling his listeners with lessons in acoustics, formulating what is to be the platform for this convention, and ending with the admonition:

"Let us present to the people programs of their support. Let us nominate a man to carry out that purpose, a man the people will elect."

Bradford in Drive On Fifth Column

The campaign to rid Massachusetts of Fifth Columnists was given impetus today with Dist. Atty. Robert F. Bradford and 54 police chiefs of Middlesex cities and towns planning to stamp out all Nazi, Communist and Fascist activities. At the same time, WPA officials called on all WPA employees to sign affidavits disavowing any Communist or Nazi affiliations as part of the government plan to rid relief organizations of aliens by July 1.

Declaring that "anti-American activities have reached a point where they have become a real menace," Dist. Atty. Bradford set next Monday afternoon for the meeting of the Middlesex County's law enforcement officers at his office in the East Cambridge courthouse.

"Police will be shown that the law does not regard the principle of free speech as something to be hidden behind in connection with attempts to undermine duly constituted government," he asserted. "Free speech is a constructive privilege, not a destructive license. Seditious speech, as well as seditious actions, can and will be prosecuted."

itself felt in the presidential contest. John W. Haigis of Massachusetts estimated that Herbert Hoover had six votes in that delegation. Other delegates are reported for the former President in the California delegation and elsewhere.

HOPE FOR HOOVER BOOM

Many important officials of the Hoover administration are on the scene, and the former President arrives late today to deliver a convention speech at 3:30, Boston time, which his advocates hope will touch off a burst of enthusiasm and take him into the nomination.

Mr. Hoover's address, expected to deal primarily with foreign policy, will be the third big one of the conventions.

Opportunity for the second was provided this morning by the induction of Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts as permanent chairman. The first was Gov. Stassen's keynote last night.

The 33-year-old Governor told the crowded convention hall that these times call for a frank approach to problems if democracy is to live.

5TH COLUMN DENOUNCED

"We must have a united people, with each citizen willing to make sacrifices and ready to stand shoulder to shoulder in the interests of national defense," he said.

He denounced fifth column activities and said they reached into the United States Capitol. In dealing with them, he said, "first and foremost there must be the determination that no one supporting Communism, Nazism, or Fascism shall be permitted on the public payrolls of this nation."

After Stassen's address the credentials and platform committees worked far into the night trying to complete their work. The delegates are scheduled to adopt the platform after Mr. Hoover speaks tonight.

That will bring them to the start of their major task—selection of presidential and vice presidential nominees. Nominating speeches probably will require all of Wednesday, leaving the balloting to start Thursday.

Write NOW If You Want a War Orphan

By GEORGE BRADBOURNE

Do you want to save a baby girl or boy? Will you shelter a child made homeless by Europe's horrible war? Will you adopt a little one and love him always as your own?

Then write to the Editor of the Boston American today.

Hundreds of New England families have written in the past two weeks, and their names and addresses have been forwarded to Washington.

When the children arrive from abroad, every application will be considered carefully by the proper authorities.

The aim, so far as is possible, is to give a baby to every mother who wants one.

Now, because of the total warfare expected in Britain, more children may be shipped very soon to Boston, New York and Montreal.

If everybody who can take a little child into his home writes NOW, it will be apparent to officials that baby girls and boys sent to New England America will not be neglected.

Typical letters received today say:

BROOKFIELD—"My husband and I would like to take two children, either Scotch or English. We have a good suburban home and everything a young son and daughter would enjoy. We say two children because they will probably be many brothers and sisters among the groups sent to this country. We do not believe in breaking up families any more than is necessary."

ARLINGTON—"I would dearly love to adopt a little girl from two to four years of age. I have been married 10 years and have not had any children. If I may express a preference it would be for an orphan. I want to raise the child as my own."

EPFING, N. H.—"Bringing these children to the United States is a most reliable enterprise. It means that several little lives that would otherwise be snuffed out in raids or through the use of poison gas will be spared. My wife and I will gladly take two children, either for the duration of the war or to keep permanently."

READING—"We have a big, attractive house here—a big, attractive empty house. We have tried for years without success to adopt a child, but everywhere they tell us about how difficult it is to obtain children in this country. If the little ones are not spoken for long in advance it is almost an impossibility to get them. Also, American parents are most reluctant to surrender their children."

"If we can adopt a child from England, France, Holland or Belgium, our problem will be solved and so also will be the child's."

FITCHBURG—"We have four children, two girls and two boys. But, in this crisis, we shall gladly take care of two more. When the British children arrive, ask the government to let us have a brother and sister, or two sisters. They'll have a good home and an abundance of happiness here with our family."

CONCORD, N. H.—"Please add my name to a list of persons desiring to adopt children from abroad. My husband and I would love to have a little son, the younger the better. We promise him a good home, a happy life and all the education our money can obtain for him."

LAWRENCE—"My husband and I would like to take a little Jewish girl or boy, as we are of that faith. We promise that he will grow up to be a fine American citizen. There is no longer any future for our people in Europe. We in America should give shelter and refuge to all the babies we can. I wish it were possible for us to take ten babies."

ble for us to take ten babies."

LEXINGTON—"I should be pleased to care for three children as long as the conflict continues over there. My wife and I have a good home and since our own children reached maturity and went to other cities, we have been very lonesome. It will be good to hear childish laughter once more."

CLINTON—"I have two adopted children, a boy and a girl. And I love them as though they were my very own. I should be very happy to take a boy or girl from England. In fact, nothing would make me happier."

ROXBURY—"I was born in Manchester, Eng., came here when I was a girl, and am now an American citizen. My husband was born in this country. We'd be most happy to take a little boy from any British community. We'd adopt him and raise him as our own son."

MERRIMAC—"We have been married 11 years and have no children, though we have always wanted them. It would give us much pleasure and joy if we could have two children, a brother and sister, from London or some other English city. The children would take our name and share everything we have."

PROVINCETOWN—"My wife and I have talked over the matter of war orphans. We have reached the conclusion that we would be pleased to take and adopt a boy or girl, or both. We have no sons and daughters of our own and welcome this opportunity to have a family."

REVERE—"I'd love to have a French or Belgian baby about a year old. I am unable to have children, and consequently am most anxious that my request be considered by the proper authorities. I can provide adequately for a child. My husband is as eager as I."

Woodring Faces Defense Quiz

WASHINGTON, June 25 (INS)—Harry Woodring, recently-resigned Secretary of War, appears headed today for a congressional witness stand to say whether he was forced out of office because he refused to strip American defenses to aid Great Britain and France.

Sen. Ed Johnson (D.) of Colorado, assailing President Roosevelt's choice of Republicans Frank Knox and Henry L. Stimson, respectively, as his new navy and War Department heads, disclosed that he will demand a public hearing for Woodring.

"I strongly feel," asserted Johnson, who is aligned with a strong bipartisan bloc opposing the cabinet nominations, "that the initiation of Knox and Stimson into the cabinet are two very definite steps into war. If Mr. Woodring was forced to resign, as reported, by a clique of international financiers because he refused to strip our defenses to aid the Allies, the public should know about it."

NAZIS CHEER WAR SMASH AT BRITAIN

BERLIN, June 25 (AP)—Germany's population, which for six weeks had watched anxiously, yet confidently, the progress of the battle in France, cheered the conclusion of that war today and waited for the next phase—the battle for England.

"We're sailing against England," sang men and women. Bands played the song against a background of pealing bells—claiming what the high command called "in incomparable victory for German arms."

In a fresh gesture apparently designed to erase the memories of the 1918 defeat which had momentarily shocked him into blindness, Adolf Hitler named Wiesbaden as the seat of a new French-German armistice commission—Wiesbaden where the French army of Rhineland occupation had its headquarters. Gen. Heinrich von Stulpnagel was named chairman.

NAZIS THUNDER ON

The fighting in France had ceased at 1:35 a. m. and to the end, the high command said, the Germans had continued their thundering advances, reaching Bayal at the mouth of the Gironde on the Atlantic coast, and Angouleme.

In Lorraine and on the Rhine, its commission reported, France lost additional fortifications. Some 22,000 French surrendered on the Donon in the Vosges, and southwest of Lyon, St. Etienne and Annonay were taken, while advances were made by mountain troops in Savoy and Aix les Bains was taken.

These were things for the Germans to cheer, but uppermost was the thought that the army was now free to strike at Britain.

Evident everywhere was the utmost confidence that England will be disposed of in short order.

Cessation of hostilities in France was announced in a special radio broadcast early this morning.

BUGLE OVER RADIO

At the hour of the armistice a bugle sounded the order to cease firing and the radio sent the historic notes echoing around the world.

NAZIS KILL 3 IN RAID ON BRITAIN

By CHARLES A. SMITH

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 25 — Hitler lost not a moment in swinging the full might of his military machine against England today, for at the very instant that fighting ceased in continental Europe, Nazi bombers were winging over the British Isles in waves, killing three civilians and injuring 13 others. Later reports said the death toll may reach five.

It was revealed that a group of Royal Air Force bombers, returning home from a night raid on German military objectives, almost ran into a large flight of Nazi machines. The British aircraft swung around and turned toward the sea, reaching their base by another route.

ALARM IN LONDON

One British plane over southeast England heavily damaged a German bomber, and it was officially stated that it was "unlikely" the Nazi pilot was able to reach his home base.

In London the populace experienced its first air raid alarm since the first week of the war, and for several hours the civilian population huddled in bomb shelters until finally the "all clear" signal was sounded. No damage or casualties were reported in London.

The first sign of the enemy's approach was shortly after midnight when the sounds of plane engines were heard over the southwest coast. Anti-aircraft searchlights and batteries went into immediate action, and Royal Air Force fighting planes took wing, but no details of the damage or casualties the British may have caused the invaders were revealed.

RAID ON DUT OF PEACE

At the very moment the "cease firing" order was given in France, three waves of German bombers were winging at great height over the northwestern areas of England, and two Nazi bombers were sighted over Wales.

Meanwhile, Britain promptly retaliated today against the French capitulation to Italy and Germany, by extending the British blockade to cover French European territories.

Britain thus placed her former ally in the category of an adversary. Significantly, French colonies were exempted from the blockade.

German Air Raiders Blast England, Wales

end of the war with France, which began Sept. 3 but which broke in all its fury only 46 days ago.

ITALY MORE SUBDUED

Italy was more subdued in her celebration.

It was announced in Bordeaux the actual terms of the two armistices would be published 48 hours after the fighting stopped.

Britain already has reported the German terms include occupation of more than half of France, dissolution of the army and internment of the navy.

Six final hours of sluggish but deadly fighting followed French signing of Italy's terms—an act which validated the armistice previously reached with Germany.

Thus France found a measure of peace after nearly 19 months of war, although more than half her soil was occupied by the invaders, and her erstwhile ally, Great Britain, was left to carry on the war which they declared against Germany last Sept. 3 and which Italy entered two weeks ago.

FRANCE'S HEART BLEEDS

Interior Minister Charles Pomaret, proclaiming this "Armistice Day" a day of mourning, ordered a minute of silence in honor of the war dead of 1914-1918 and 1939-1940 at 11 a. m. (5 a. m. EST) and said that late in the day Premier Marshal Henri Philippe Petain would address the nation by radio.

"Today France must be silent," Pomaret said. "Her heart will bleed but she will forge a new hope."

"Marshal Petain has made a gift of himself to France. Around him a constitutional government, resolute and worthy, will devote itself to the welfare of the country, which will continue to live with a broad, free spirit."

French troops, exhausted by the last three weeks of relentless blitzkrieg were confined to barracks. Flags on public buildings flew at half-staff. Cafes, theaters and all stores except those supplying food were closed.

Special religious services were arranged.

RUMANIA WAR CRISIS

Far from the scene of French catastrophe other nations flexed their muscles.

Foreign military and diplomatic quarters in Hungary heard that Rumanian and Russian troops had clashed at several points on the Danester river frontier. Rumanian officials refused to discuss the reports.

Japan sent warships from her

China fleet to the harbor of Haiphong, French Indo-China, as "observers" in connection with suspected arms traffic through Indo-China to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Chungking government.

The move was made amidst reports that the Japanese might declare a "protectorate" over French and Netherlands possessions in the Far East, but the admiralty spokesman said the ships would remain off the French port only until Japanese inspectors arrive under the terms of a recent agreement between the Japanese and French governments.

Italy's forces triumphantly ceased attacks on France after only 14 days of warfare which Premier Mussolini had promised would break "the chains which confine us in our sea"—the Mediterranean. Press dispatches from the front said that Italian troops halted the attack abruptly at the order "cease firing."

There were no huge calls and no ceremony of any sort, these accounts said.

Infantrymen merely stacked their guns and sat down on the mountainsides to drink coffee and wine.

Artillerymen stepped from their cannon—still heated from the battle—to join their comrades.

Some soldiers called across patches of snow to Frenchmen, but received no replies, it was reported.

Japanese Seize French Posts

China army was leaving for Indo-China today, it was said.

The foreign office meanwhile announced that a separate group of "military and naval officers and non-commissioned officers" was aboard a warship assigned to Hanoi, Indo-China capital which lies inland on the Red river. Japan announced dispatch of the warships to Haiphong, Indo-China's principal port, just a few hours after hostilities ceased in France.

French Give Up Shanghai Zone, Japs Move In

SHANGHAI, June 25 (AP)—French concession military defense forces announced today withdrawal of their troops from a small segment of Chinese territory, adjacent to the southwestern corner of the concession, which they had occupied since 1937. Japanese military moved in as the French withdrew.

The French had taken over the zone when the Chinese-Japanese conflict struck Shanghai because of the location there of a large French Catholic mission and the concession's water supply.

Observers believed the French action, and the agreement to permit Japanese observers in Indo-China to watch over arms shipments to China, was a result of France's collapse.

Americans here feared United States trade with China over the Indo-China railway, which heretofore has been heavy, would be hard hit.

The dispatch of Japanese warships to Haiphong was seen as possibly leading to a blockade of Indo-China, in which case American trade in Chinese products coming over the Haiphong-Kunming railway might be doomed. It was pointed out that recent American credits for China are secured by this trade.

Head of the French National Committee in London, Gen. Charles De Gaulle today is reportedly rallying the French elements to continue the war on Germany... and form a government of their own. In recent radio speech he urged Frenchmen to fight by Britain's side.

Italian Troops Bombed by RAF

CAIRO, June 25 (AP)—A Royal Air Force communiqué said today that British bombers had attacked the Italian Biad Boggi military encampment in the western desert yesterday.

"The raid on the military encampment," said the communiqué, "was a complete surprise. Tents bombed there were scenes of tremendous activity as the troops rushed for shelter."

"In a raid on the Asmara air-drome considerable damage was done," said the communiqué. "Hangars and runways suffered direct hits."

"Our Blenheims raided the Birdawa air-drome. Two enemy fighters were intercepted, but made off after one was severely damaged. One of our aircraft failed to return."

Lewis, Dorothy Split Over War

MAPLEWOOD, N. J., June 25 (AP)—The possible participation of the United States in the European war is one of "the many things" on which novelist Sinclair Lewis and his citizen wife, Dorothy Thompson, have "agreed to differ."

Lewis, author of "It Can't Happen Here," paused between scenes of the play, "Ah, Wilderness," at the Maplewood Theater, to say:

"She (Miss Thompson) believes we should get in to help France and England. I, emphatically, don't."

He said the United States could better accomplish its task of "preserving civilization and the American way of life" by staying out of the war.

Cruiser Stays In Montevideo

MONTEVIDEO, June 25 (AP)—The 10,000-ton U. S. cruiser Quincy stayed overtime in Montevideo harbor today and anxious Uruguay, investigating possibility of a Nazi-planned revolt, cheered the news that a second U. S. warship is on the way.

Warship Sale To British Halted

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP)—The projected transfer of 20 "Mosquito" torpedo boats to Great Britain—a transaction which drew outspoken criticism in Congress—has been cancelled by President Roosevelt.

The President's action destroyed British hopes of acquiring the 111 destroyers which the navy has left over from World War days, for he based his decision on a law prohibiting the delivery of American built war vessels to a belligerent.

Mr. Roosevelt ordered negotiations for the "Mosquito" boat transfer halted late yesterday, after studying an informal opinion from Atty-Gen. Jackson.

The attorney-general held that British acquisition of the craft—originally ordered for the U. S. Navy—would violate a law enacted in June, 1917, when the United States and Britain were Allies.

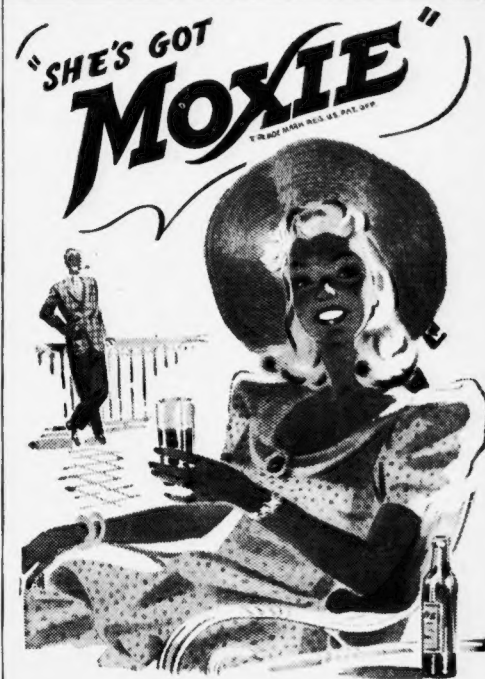

U. S. Staffs to Board American Warships

MADRID, June 25 (INS)—The 1909-ton destroyer Dickerson, unit of the United States Navy's European squadron, was standing by at Bilbao today to evacuate the staffs of American embassies in France and Poland who still are in southern France.

It also was expected that the American warship would probably take back to the United States some of the thousands of American nationals who are stranded at St. Jean de Luz, Biarritz, Bordeaux and other points, unable to obtain transportation home because of the absence of sailing schedules to the United States.

The Last Straw

WHEN Captain Dan McShane, Skipper of the Seventh Precinct, swore, it was with a talent famous throughout the whole police department. And now Steve Manning, the young cop standing ill at ease before McShane's desk, was receiving the full impact of the captain's scalding tongue.

"Oh, so you don't want to ride with Pete Rizzo?" McShane asked with solicitous sarcasm. "You want me to break up the best radio car team in the entire force?"

Steve nodded weakly. "Well!" thundered McShane, banging a bam-like fist on the desk to lend emphasis. "I'll not be doing it! And you can tell Rizzo I'll not be listening to the same request from him, either. My advice to both of you is to stop sulking like a couple of foolish schoolgirls and go out and earn yer pay . . . Get out! Before I lose my temper!"

Alone in his office, McShane addressed the wall and spoke contemptuously: "Women! The whole lot of 'em! One of 'em can stir up more trouble than a pack of thieves."

He was alluding specifically to one Sally Waters, a trim little blonde number who was the waitress at Joe's Elite Diner down on Elm st. Sally, McShane well knew, was the direct cause of Steve Manning and Pete Rizzo, his two best cops and whom he had trained with an almost paternal interest since they had come to him direct from the police academy four years ago, not being on speaking terms.

Until a few months back, Steve and Pete, with their fine record and many commendations, had been headed for the detective force. But that was a few months ago. This trouble between them dated from a night about that time.

They had pulled up their radio car alongside Joe's Diner. Pete went in for coffee while Steve waited at the wheel. After Pete came out, it would be Steve's turn. This was their regular habit. That night, however, Pete was much longer than usual.

"What's a matter, fall asleep in there?" Steve kidded him when Pete came out twenty minutes later.

"ALL'S FAIR IN LOVE"

"I'll give you a half hour," Pete grinned back. "Wait 'til you see the new decoration!"

And so they had both succumbed to the full curves and blonde waves of Sally Walters. Joe's Diner was their only coffee stop from that night on.

Two weeks later, on his night off, Steve asked Sally for a date. She sent him into the milder forms of ecstasy by accepting. "You only beat me to it 'cause you went in first," Pete answered when Steve returned to the car and boasted to his partner.

Pete countered by dating Sally on his next night off. As both worked the same shift, this stymied Steve's plans for a second date. "All's fair in love, remember!" Steve warned Pete in good humor.

But, as the weeks drifted into months, the fight for Sally's company grew more intense and, gradually, all the good-natured rivalry changed into something that was severely straining the five-year friendship between Capt. McShane's two best radio cops.

It came to a head one night about two weeks before Steve's visit to the captain, requesting that he be transferred to another car. They had been cruising along the dark streets on the South Side, Pete behind the wheel, when Steve spoke suddenly:

"Look, Pete, I know you like Sally. I guess you like her a lot. But it's no use."

"No?" Pete asked suspiciously. "No. Sorry old boy, but you'll have to quit seeing her. I'm giving her a ring tomorrow. With me it's that serious."

Pete didn't answer immediately. At the end of the block he stopped the car beneath a street lamp. From his pocket he took a small cardboard box.

"What do you think this is?" he asked and Steve saw a diamond reflecting the rays from the arc lamp. "And that's how I feel about Sally."

They didn't speak much after that. Sally, their mutual object of affection, only complicated matters, for, after receiving, in turn, the two proposals, she gave them both the same answer:

MUTUAL ENEMIES

"Geeh, I like you an awful lot, Pete (Steve), but I can't make up my mind yet. I'll have to think it over for awhile." But she accepted both rings during her period of cogitation.

Since then, Pete and Steve alone for eight hours together in the narrow confines of the radio car, spoke only in the course of duty. Their sullessness was mutual and their work suffered. The spark of reckless co-operation was missing.

They had been riding in this morose atmosphere a few hours that night, shortly after the interview with McShane, and it was close to midnight when the short-wave radio sputtered its ominous message.

"In the Seventh Precinct, Attention! The address, 402 Harris st. The Eagle Jewelry Co. Proceed with caution, Signal 30."

Steve, behind the wheel, had raced the light car two long blocks before the message had been repeated. Signal 30 was serious. It meant they would probably meet armed burglars.

Taking corners on two wheels, nothing was amiss in the rear and had started to circle the far side to meet Pete in the front when he heard the shots echo staccato-like in the street outside.

Recalling the fence, Steve dropped to the sidewalk—and into the midst of the losing gun battle Pete was waging against the two armed thugs. Steve arrived just in time to see his partner drop to the sidewalk, a bullet in his shoulder.

As he bounded forward, Steve saw one of the gunmen take deliberate aim at Pete's inert form.

close one. But when Pete gets through thanking you for saving his life, I want to tell you you're both in the detective bureau now."

The captain tried to hide the seriousness of his tone.

For a time, though, it looked like you'd both be getting an Inspector's funeral instead of a gold badge. If the squad car hadn't arrived just when you were both out . . . He didn't finish the implication, but went on:

"I have some more news. I was gonna hold it until you got back on your feet, but you'd hear about it anyway. Your sweet little pal, that Sally dame—" he hesitated a second—"well, she up and eloped with a fireman. The same night you guys were shot. She certainly must be nuts about uniforms, that dame!"

Steve saw the orange flash from the burglar's revolver as his body hurtled through the air.

McShane waited apprehensively for the reaction, but Steve and Pete were grinning as they reached across to clasp gauze-covered hands.

RIOT NEWS TIP WINS $5 AWARD

When the excitement of a fracas outside a Salem church on a Sunday morning was at its height, a Newwood man passing through the city was held up in traffic. He recognized the moment as a golden opportunity and phoned the Tip Editor, and yesterday he was rewarded with $5 as top-tipster prize winner of the week.

Two women shared second honors, with prizes of $2 each; one for phoning a tip on the story of a neighbor killed in a Roxbury tragedy; the other, a Waltham girl, who phoned the news of a golfer killed in Wayland by lightning.

Prizes of $1 each went to 16 other persons who spent the few moments necessary to call Liberty 4000 and ask for the Tip Editor when out of the ordinary things happened in their neighborhood, such as:

A cripple carried into court on a stretcher; a fire in Lowell; a woman shooting herself in her Lynn home; a boy killed by an auto on Hubbard st., Malden; two girl cyclists hit by a hit-runner in Charlestown; a suicide in Norwood; the rescue of boy from a capsize boat in the harbor; explosion of a tar truck in Salem; U. S. Army bombers arriving in East Boston en route to Canada; an auto crash in Hanover; burglars beating up a watchman in South End; robbery; human interest in a lost raccoon found and returned to Franklin Park; a woman taken from Charles river, Waltham; an attempted suicide in the North End; a drowning at the Fish Pier, and a woman falling from a window to her death.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 5 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood, these poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

NEATNESS TO COUNT IN HOPE GAG CONTEST

"So I ain't neat!" exclaimed Professor Colonna.

To which Bob Hope replied: "Then you have no business trying to solve the gag-lines in the entertaining Boston American contest!"

And he's right, too. For neatness and originality in presentation, will decide winners in the above selection of correct solutions to gags. All you have to do is either check what you think is the correct solution or letter it in the blank space in the picture.

The Bob Hope Radio Show, with all of his stellar performers, will open at the Metropolitan Theater, all in person, Friday, June 28. Hope's newest comedy sensation, "The Ghost Breakers," with Paulette Goddard, will be the screen attraction.

SOLVE GAGS

Solve the four missing gags, as they will appear in the Boston American, and send your completed solutions (all four of them) to: Bob Hope Editor, Boston American, 3 Winthrop square, Boston, Mass. Letters postmarked before midnight, Friday, June 23, will be eligible for prizes.

Accompany each set of answers with a line to complete this linerick. These lines will be used to decide winners in the event of ties.

"Who's Yahoodi?", you hear everyone shout.

When all our friends are gathered about,

It's not Bob Hope

'Cause he's a dope

A sample line would be: "WHAT DO YOU KNOW? HE'S A BOY SCOUT!"

RADIO PRIZE

Here are the prizes: First award is the new sensational Tom Tamm portable radio, which will be personally autographed by Bob Hope and company, and presented in person.

Mother at 12, Bayou Girl to Stay in School

NEW ORLEANS, June 23 (AP)—Twelve-year-old Mrs. Elsie Chasson went back today to her home down winding Bayou Terrebonne, where she hopes to return to school while her grandmother takes care of her seven-pound son born 11 days ago in Charity Hospital here.

The shy, black-haired girl and her baby, which was born normal, left the hospital in an ambulance for her home. She said she would stay with her grandmother, Mrs. Julia Chasson Marcel, who lives down the bayou front Montegut fishing village near Louisiana's Gulf coast.

During her three-week stay in the hospital here the girl received no visits from her relatives or her 16-year-old husband, Eddie Chasson, who was out fishing in the Gulf.

During the first time interviews or photographers were permitted to see her since her arrival at the hospital, she smiled and shrugged at most questions. She speaks the native French dialect of the Louisiana coast and understands little English.

The young mother admitted she did not know how to take care of a baby, but explained "my grandmother (grandmother) will show me and take care of him."

Rose said she was in the second grade at school when forced to leave by Charles' impending arrival.

"Boston After Dark," by George Holland, appears every day in the Boston American.

Gertrude Lawrence Stars on Cape

'Private Lives' Delights All

By PEGGY DOYLE

DENNIS, June 25—Cape Playhouse, "America's most famous summer theater," lived up to its reputation last night when it opened its fourteenth season with a four-star performance of "Private Lives."

Co-stars Gertrude Lawrence and Richard Haydn, playwright Noel Coward and Director John C. Wilson, all names to conjure with in the theater, last night turned Hope Lane into Broadway for a houseful of enchanted Cape residents, summer transients, New York celebrities and reviewers from Boston and Cape newspapers.

It was in 1931 that Miss Lawrence and Coward gave "Private Lives" its initial Broadway presentation. Later in the same year, Boston saw this glittering comedy with Madge Evans and Otto Kruger in the starring roles.

For those of us who saw Miss Lawrence's original performance, it may be said without the vaguest fear of contradiction that neither the lady nor the play has come dated in the nine-year interval.

Miss Lawrence is easily the most glamorous lady on the stage today. Her honeymooning ex-husband, Elyot Chase found her charm simply inescapable as early as the first act of this superbly sophisticated Coward divertissement.

There he was, freshly married to 23-year-old Sybil, a lovely young thing as Muriel Williams plays her, and pop went the orchestra to remind him and Amanda, honey-mooning and also out for a breath of air on the adjoining balcony, of what love is really all about. Elyot's Sybil had been so continuously curious about Amanda and Amanda's Victor had been just as persistently questioning about Amanda. It had all been enough to try the patience of saints, which definitely the groom and bride of the first act were not.

When, each in turn, meaning Amanda and Elyot, virtually came out of the concert looking as desirable as the glamorous Gettle and the fish-mouthing Haydn (yes, honest) can look the honeymoon had ended for the respective mates.

But it was only the beginning of a riotously entertaining evening in the theater for a capacity audience of Cape Playhouse "regulars" who admitted only one lack—the genial, charming presence of the late Raymond Moore, the theater's founder and president, and one of the profession's most knowing showmen, who died last winter.

Francis Hart, who has succeeded him as president, and Director Richard Aldrich, the noted Broadway producer-director, are planning a season of stars and plays hitherto unequalled in summer theater history.

Hollywood Paragraphs

By HARRIET PARSONS

Finch-Hitting for Louella O. Parsons Who Is on Vacation

HOLLYWOOD, June 25—Pretty Osa Massen, who scored in Paramount's "Honeymoon in Bali," will have an important role in Warners' "Honeymoon for Three."

GERTRUDE LAWRENCE who opened the Cape Playhouse's 14th season at Dennis last night in "Private Lives."

Osa, who's married to Jean Hersholt's boy, Allan, has just been cast as Ann Sheridan's rival for George Brent's affections. Quite an assignment considering the way Ann and George feel about one another. Although the trade papers have announced Claire Trevor for a top spot in "Honeymoon for Three" it is not definitely set.

Claire does have a one-picture commitment with Warners but there's a chance she'll go into "Santa Fe Trail" with Errol Flynn, Olivia De Havilland and John Wayne instead of the Sheridan-Brent epic.

Continuing his policy of giving both Century-Fox's younger contract players real opportunities, Darryl Zanuck has handed the top spot in "Yesterday's Heroes" to Robert Sterling as a reward for his work in "Manhattan Heartbeat."

Jean Rogers, another young player who is heard for bigger breaks, will have the femme lead.

Completing the youthful lineup, Herbert Leeds, one of Hollywood's youngest directors, will handle the megaphone

New Comedy Hit Opens Thursday

"Spinsters Ain't Spinach" is a best-seller and Loretta Young, its pretty, successful author, in "The Doctor Takes a Wife" Columbia comedy which co-stars Ray Milland and is due on Loew's State and Orpheum screens on Thursday.

On the same bill will be Metro's "2) Mule Team," starring Wallace Beery in a Death Valley saga of pioneers and mule trains.

Miss Young is said to have the frothiest sole of her film career in "The Doctor Takes a Wife" as Public Spinster No. 1 who lives alone, likes it and writes about it in the most glowing terms.

Then she meets Milland, ambitious young physician, who feels the same way about women as she does about men.

But circumstances force them into pretending "married" bliss, so they bill and coo in public and battle and clash in private.

Further complicating their mutual problem are Reginald Gardiner, Miss Young's eccentric publisher who doesn't want to lose his most profitable author if he has to marry her himself, and Gail Patrick, Milland's fiancée, who is accepting the doctor's strange situation just so long as he doesn't mind her "dating" with playboy Georges Méliès. And, of course, Edmund Gwenn, as Milland's father, doesn't ease his problem.

Alexander Hall directed this George Seaton-Ken England screen play based on Aileen Leslie's original story.

"29 Mule Team," the second feature, is supposed to afford Beery his most colorful acting opportunity since "Viva Villa!" It teams him with two other veterans, Leo Carrillo and Marjorie Rambeau.

Olympia's Features Held Through Friday

Alexander Korda Week Gets Under Way With 9 Big Films

Alexander Korda, noted producer, who has widened his picture activities to include production in Hollywood as well as in London, is to be honored by United Artists in co-operation with exhibitors with a National Alexander Korda week, beginning Saturday.

While Korda is well known in this country through his many successful productions, United Artists is further establishing the Korda banner by releasing nine of his outstanding film successes in more than 25 key cities including Boston and New York. The first release is with "The Private Life of Henry VIII," followed by successive performances of "Catherine the Great," "The Scarlet Pimpernel," "Sands of the River," "The Ghost Goes West," "Storm in a Teacup," "Elephant Boy," "The Divorce of Lady X" and "The Drum."

Stars and screen discoveries appearing in the foregoing pictures include Merle Oberon, Charles Laughton, Vivien Leigh, Robert Donat, Binnie Barnes, Sabu, Raymond Massey, Elizabeth Bergner, Lawrence Olivier, Paul Robeson, Leslie Howard, Wendy Harris and Ralph Richardson.

14 IN QUEST OF AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP . . .

Thousands Flock to Federal Building Daily to Join Uncle Sam's Huge Family

EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, JUNE 25, 1940

Their Flag

Sworn in as a citizen of the United States, Mrs. J. H. Nelson of Braintree, who was born in Sweden, looks up at Old Glory . . . her daughter, Dorothy, beside her.

By the Editor of the Evening American

Citizen Soon—Having waited five years since filing her first citizenship papers, Mrs. Charlotte Coulter (right), formerly of Canada and now of Boston, applies for her second papers . . . and is accompanied by a citizen-friend, Mrs. Vera McDonald.

Information—With several others at the Bureau of Naturalization in the Federal Building, this elderly woman is interested in becoming a citizen . . . and here, asks a few questions on applying for papers.

Boston Evening American Photo

To Canada—Unlike several others around him who want to stay in the United States, Joseph LeBlanc of Boston is caught by the cameraman looking a bit bewildered as he applies for passport that's now needed for re-entry into Canada.

Oath

Preparatory to applying for second citizenship papers, Mrs. John T. Rose of Roslindale takes oath administered by Inspector Edward B. McCusker. She's a native of Canada . . . but'll soon be an American citizen.

Evening American Staff

Waiting

With his witness, Photios Karavestos, along, Antonios Aivalictis (right) of Boston waits to be examined . . . in quest of his first papers. Both are from Greece.

Evening American Staff

Citizenship Ahead—Lining the counter at naturalization bureau are (l. to r.) Citizen Vito Aprile, his friend, John Munes of South Boston, Joseph Maurano of South Boston and Joseph Cipriano of Boston. Aprile aids Munes, who seeks his first papers . . . while Maurano and Cipriano, having received their second papers, wait to take oath of allegiance.

IN OUR PROPER DESIRE to defend our country to the utmost against foreign invasion we must not go in for "regimentation."

That way lies "Socialism," which is a form of government that is wholly anti-American in that it destroys all individual effort and initiative and substitutes a Commufascist regime.

Our people have achieved the highest peaks ever attained by any people by insisting on individual initiative.

Without any form of government interference, here are some of the things the free and untrammelled American has achieved up to date:

There are in the U. S. A. 45,000,000 Savings Bank depositors, with over $25,000,000,000 in savings.

We have the highest per capita ownership of wealth of any nation in the world.

We have INSURED OURSELVES for $11,000,000,000. There are 64,000,000 policy-holders, with OVER SIXTY PER CENT of the insurance in force in the world.

We own 29,000,000 of the 43,000,000 motor vehicles in the world. Fifty-four per cent of all American families own cars. There is one automobile for every 4.3 persons, compared to one for every 142 persons in the world at large.

Four out of five American homes have electricity. Twenty-two million of America's 26,000,000 homes are wired. Approximately every second home has a vacuum cleaner, a washing machine, electric refrigerator and an electric toaster.

There are 28,000,000 homes with radios—over 40,000,000 radios.

Seven to ten thousand million dollars a year is spent by Americans for recreation and pleasure—$56 to $30 per person.

Fifty per cent of all the telephones of the world are in the U. S. A.—one for every seven persons.

Three and a half million families live on farms THAT THEY OWN.

THESE ARE ONLY A FEW of the colossal accomplishments of Americans when they are LEFT ALONE.

They throw a piercing light on the recent statement of Henry Ford that he could turn out one thousand planes a day if the government "KEPT ITS HANDS OFF."

We are not so much in danger of invasion as we are of STRANGULATION by such persons as Senator Josh Lee, of Oklahoma, who is ready with a bill to confiscate nearly all private wealth in case we should go to war.

The confiscation of incomes will destroy all that is distinctly American—INITIATIVE.

In back of Senator Lee there stands a number of "regimenters" and stranglers, whose sinister purpose is to turn us into a robotized, collectivized state, no different in essence or in fact from Russia, Germany and Italy.

Discipline—yes. Team-work—yes.

But confiscation, regimentation and mass-slavery—NO!

That would mean the destruction of our democracy FROM WITHIN.

THE FATE OF THE RACE, spiritually and materially, is in the hands of the modern woman, says Dr. W. Waldemar W. Argow of Syracuse, N. Y.

Addressing the baccalaureate service at Stoneleigh College, Rye, N. H., a few days ago, Dr. Argow explained:

"I contend that the women of the world could put an end to war if they only realized the power they have at their disposal.

"When once women begin to assert that power, which is not a mailed fist or a sword, we men would be on our knees begging for mercy.

"Women's power is the most potent on earth. Not a shot need be fired, and not a single law be enacted to enforce it."

Dr. Argow is undoubtedly right. Women are the creative and constructive sex.

Not only can they cast more ballots than men on election day, but also they own 70 per cent of the private wealth of the nation, are beneficiaries of 80 per cent of the life insurance, control 75 per cent of the estates that are probated, have 75 per cent of the savings accounts, totalling more than $14,500,000,000, and enjoy a collective fortune exceeding $200,000,000,000.

Banded together, as thousands are in the National Legion of American Mothers and similar organizations, they are bound to exert a sobering influence on masculine warrior instincts.

It is true, of course, that some women in the public eye are as battle-minded as the most militant men. But such women are in the minority, their outbursts generally attributed to hysteria.

The real woman thinks of her child, his present security and his future happiness.

On The Side

THOSE hooded effect things women are wearing make them look as if they are about to start cleaning the house. But the women seem to think said hoods make them look cute, sweet and innocent like Little Red Riding Hood . . . Expecting a blessed event, sir? Want to know whether it is going to be a boy or a girl? Easy to tell. If the expectant mother's heart beats a little more per minute than usual it will be a girl. Well, that's what I heard, anyhow.

ARE YOU FAT and forty but not so fair, lady? Then read "How to Be Young Again," by Ann Lafatfield in The Cosmopolitan . . . Henry Ford says a combination of an automobile and aeroplane is surely coming. Thing that always puzzles me about the future in which the air will be full of planes and flying automobiles as the highways are now full of cars is how are people going to protect themselves and their houses from the flying machines that accidentally fall from the sky? . . . Some observations on women from this department's Horses and Women research files: "They say there are 67 ways in which a woman can like a man"—Alfred Sutro . . . "Every woman who hasn't any money is a matrimonial adventurer"—Bernard Shaw . . . "The great ambition of women, believe me, is to inspire love"—Moliere . . . "This I set down as a positive truth. A woman without a positive hump, may marry whom she likes"—

FLIRTING ENHANCES DIXIE DUNBAR'S BEAUTY
But It's Dangerous, Particularly in Summer, Durling Warns

Thackeray . . . "I expect that woman will be the last thing civilized by man"—George Meredith.

ALMA ARCHER, the expert on love and beauty, is a little worried because a number of husbands have written her protesting she has preached a dangerous doctrine and one likely to have a bad effect on impressionable wives in saying "flirting is an excellent beauty treatment. It makes a woman's heart beat faster, stimulating her blood stream on which color and texture of skin depend. It makes her glands function, brightens her eyes, even adding gloss to her hair." I agree with the aforementioned husbands in their protests. That is a "dangerous doctrine," especially during the summer when so many wives are at the seaside while their husbands remain in the city.

THEY CAUGHT A gray maul-eating shark off the north Jersey coast the other day. I think I will do all my swimming in the pool . . . Heard a fellow who receives $2500 a week for talking on the radio say Napoleon was a corporal. Napoleon was never a corporal. He was educated in the French military school equivalent to our West Point and was always an officer.

MY DAY

NEW YORK, CITY, June 25—We went down to the station Sunday night and saw the President and his party off for Washington with much regret, for the country is very lovely and it is possible to forget for a little while how horrible conditions are in much the rest of the world.

I drove through the woods just as the sun was setting Sunday night, a most mysterious magic hour. There was a soft light on the deep green leaves.

A fat woodchuck scuttled across the road ahead of me.

How can one think of these woods converted into a battlefield? Peace seems to be in the heart of them and yet, I remember some just like them outside of Paris and in the forests of Germany and England.

I motored back to my own cottage and slept on my porch, to wake to fog and rain yesterday morning. Our drive to New York city was cold and somber all the way.

I WENT FIRST to visit Mrs. Stephen Wise's refugee home. The three houses she has taken over must indeed seem a cheerful haven to strangers landing on our shores.

I wish we could receive everyone who comes to this country with the same spirit which Mrs. Wise and her colleagues have been able to create in these houses.

One thing seemed rather pathetic to me and that was the absence in the rooms of any personal effects. Only the children had left their mark with a doll or toy, and so few of these. My heart ached for what this represented in hardship and break with all former ties.

From there I went straight to my apartment to meet two girls from Alaska, who came here to be present at Alaska Day at the New York World's Fair. They had four days in Washington and told me it had seemed to them far too little, but they are now enjoying New York city.

They said Alaska seemed very far away from the European situation, but when it came to what the Russians and the Japanese were doing in the Far East, they felt very close to any troubles which might arise.

The fact that a Japanese delegation was in Berlin yesterday made more impression on them, I think, than the capitulation of the French.

It is quite evident from the news we read in the newspapers that the Germans have learned only bitterness and no wisdom from past history.

They are exacting even more severe terms from their conquered enemies than were exacted of them. They go on the theory, I suppose, that only by completely wiping out the strength of a conquered nation can they be sure of remaining in power.

This is a rather hopeless attitude if you have any faith in friendly relations between nations being in the end the strongest of ties and the greatest protection against future war.

TALLULAH ORDERS
WRONG DISH

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, June 25—"Tallulah Bankhead, who vowed not to touch any spirits until the Allies win, dined at the French Pavillion and ordered crepes suzette," Earl Blackwell informs at Leone's. "Tallulah suddenly remembered and gasped: 'Oh, why did I order crepes suzette with brandy in it? I should've had it with Coca-Cola!'" . . . Paramount is pulling a sleeper in Allen Rivkin's "Dancin' on a Dime," which will be one of the top musicals of the year, a Hollywood arrival reports at the Gay 90's. "It's about a WPA show stranded when the Federal Theater closed" . . . "The Bundles for Britain" agency is quite puzzled because of a package which just arrived, a member of the committee confesses at the Kit Kat. "In that package was a hand-knitted sweater—with three sleeves!" . . . "Don't you know me?" Barbara Banister tells a producer at the Versailles. "I'm very famous—because I'm the girl who never has gone out with Tony Martin."

"BEFORE I left Paris," Irving Marks, the theatrical agent who arrived last week, reports at the Cafe Pierre. "I saw Sascha Guitry. He got out in time and will come to America in September. Henri Bernstein went to London. Dita Parlo, who was signed for Orson Welles' picture, was put into a concentration camp, because she's a refugee" . . . "If you find out the name of the person with whom Justice Frank Murphy went to Arizona," a lawyer suggests at Toots Shor's, "you'll have a good story" . . . Martha Raye is lifted onto the shoulders of George Raft and Leo Durocher to pose for a photo at the Hurricane. "Come on, Leo," the cameraman coaxes, "smile—as if you just made a run!" Martha screams: "He just did!"—and points to a newly-made run in her stocking.

"JOE BRYAN 3d, the magazine editor who just resigned, is writing a play with Finis Farr," an agent reports at the Tavern. "The play, 'Parade Rest,' will be on Americanism. They're starting to write it on July 4th" . . . "I asked James Hilton, who wrote 'Good-bye, Mr. Chips,' to look at our production of 'Tom Brown's School Days,'" Gene Towne states at the Stork Club. "Hilton was very nice—and wrote an endorsement of our picture."

"DARRYL ZANUCK will make up his mind this week," a studio employee declares at Longchamps, "whether he'll do the Sonja Henie picture or pay her the $150,000 and forget about it" . . . "I saw Bill Doherty, Jr., at Cafe Society" one of his friends informs. "He has just finished writing his book—based upon the Berlin diaries left by his late father, the ex-Ambassador to Germany. Bill is looking for a publisher."

MARTHA RAYE

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Don Budge declined grudgingly an invitation to play the drums with Mickey Alpert's orchestra at the Coconut Grove . . . The gangling tennis champ and a party of Boston admirers went ringsiding after the weather man predicted more show-ers for today in Boston and vicinity, (including Long-wood) . . . Don's hobby is drumming, and he handles the sticks like a pro . . . The Massachusetts delegation is in a "spot" at Philadelphia . . . If it deserves Con-gressman Joe Martin after the first ballot, there's a bare chance that it might have to fall in line again with the "native son" in a Martin sweep initiated by other delegations . . . If the Willkie boom explodes, smart fellows are saying that Hoover or North Attleboro Joe will be the dark horse, or horses.

SPEAKING OF HORSES—anything can happen at a race-track, and we don't mean to emphasize the startling triumph of George W. "Man About Boston" Clarke in winning his first daily double in twenty years of race-going . . . (That happened Saturday and the pay-off was eighteen dollars and some change.) . . . A much more unusual incident occurred at Suffolk Downs with a lady fan as heroine . . . She had bought a ticket on a "wrong horse," i. e.; not the one on which she intended to bet . . . And the horse won . . . The woman was so grateful that she planted herself at the edge of the lane from the track to the paddock, and proceeded to express her thanks to all the jockeys that had mounts in the heat.

"THANK YOU VERY MUCH for not beating my horse," was her surprising message to the first jockey who had weighed out . . . "Thank you very much for not beating my horse," she repeated as rider after rider strolled up the paddock lane to the showers . . . A small knot of baffled horse-players had now formed a cluster around her as the strange performance continued.

FINALLY, JOCKEY J. MEARLE, who had ridden the winner, made his appearance . . . But the excited woman didn't know one jockey from another . . . At this point, one of the bystanders decided to prevent a faux pas . . . "Now this here jock, lady, that's Jockey Mearle and he rode the winner," was the advice the friendly fellow gave her . . . "So you don't want to thank him for not beating your horse, un'erstand?" . . . She did . . . And she had saved her sweetest smile for the last of the jockeys . . . But her greeting was negative . . . As young Mearle, escorted by his valet, passed her spot at the fence, he woman leaned over and shouted: "Thank you very much for not letting them beat my horse!" . . . Jockey Mearle looked up, shook his head, and walked on.

THE SOUTH-AMERICAN way of naming all changed nightspots so that the tropical influence is indicated—continues . . . For instance, the erstwhile Red Fox, in Wareham, has become "The Zombie" . . . And Bill Hennessey's place in the very middle of the temperate zone (Washington street just above Dover) has become "El Bolero" . . . Although The Casino, at Old Silver Beach, maintains its name and appointments, a stranger to the Cape who might be familiar with the

UP ACTING AGAIN

By Harriet Parsons

Richard Dix

Pinch-hitting for Louella O. Parsons Who Is on Vacation
HOLLYWOOD, June 25—It took exactly two story conferences to convince Richard Dix that he wasn't a producer. Dix, who announced not long ago that he was forming his own company, says he soon found out how little he knows about the production end of pictures and he's grateful that he learned the lesson without cost. He'll stick to acting and will let Harry Sherman have the production headaches. Dix and Sherman are talking terms for a two-year four-picture-a-year deal. In addition to the popular "Hopalong Cassidy" series, Sherman makes several bigger budget specials for Paramount and the Dix starrers would be in high class.

Rich is now making "Cherokee Strip" for Sherman and if the contract deal goes through he'll follow with "The Roundup." Macklen Armitage's oddtime stage hit. It's already in preparation and Announcer Don Wilson, who's becoming quite a screen personality, has been signed for an important comedy role.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Maybe you think there wasn't a lot of choking and wrong-way-swallowing among the lunkheads at the Hollywood Derby when Lana Turner, Artie Shaw and Greg Bautzer walked in TOGETHER and proceeded amicably to have lunch; nobody seems to know that Phillips Holmes and Betty Rich, 22-year-old Bey-Hills gal, were quietly wed at Tia Juana last week and immediately afterward flew to Chicago, where Phil will do a big air-show.

MUCH HILARITY at that downtown burlesque house when Mischa Auer, Edgar Kennedy and Eddie Quillan got up on the stage and held forth for hours. Quillan danced and Mischa did a strip tease. Alex Korda got back in town Sunday and so did the Gary Coopers; Marcel Roger, Wes Ruggles' heart, is here, too, after stopping over in Tucson to visit Wes at the "Arizona" location. Marcel has been in France visiting her mother.

ANITA LOUISE and Buddy Adler move into their new Westwood home Wednesday. They've been living in an apartment since the wedding; Bonnie Barnes is down with the flu; Helen Parrish showed up at Casa Manana with three escorts, not including Forrest Tucker, who was at Cro's with Martha (Hirsch); Bart Marshall lunched with his ex-wife, Edna Best, at the Warner commissary; Eugene Leontovich is back in town after a trip East to see with his own eyes how "Four Sons" is doing.

TWO-MINUTE STORY

FIRE DESTROYED the Dennis Weaving Company late last night. Starting in the cotton bin in the picker room, the flames swept through the main building and with incredible speed enveloped the entire structure.

Frank Carlton, while having breakfast, couldn't resist any further. To think that after five years as head designer he was now out of work. Besides, Mr. Dennis, the owner of the plant, was not going to rebuild.

Mrs. Anne Carlton, who was silently eyeing Frank with sympathetic gestures, spoke up softly:

"Frank, darling, please, I realize how you must feel but we will get along, somehow, I just know we will."

"But, Anne, all our money is in this new home and if we can't continue payments the bank . . . Oh, you know what will happen."

FRANK swallowed hard, got up, put on his hat and coat and rushed out the door shouting to Anne:

"I'm going to look for a job."

The day went into waste and other days and weeks that followed. Though Carlton was well known and his designing was superlative, there were no openings.

They scoffed at his appeal to accept him, as a plain mill hand.

One night Frank was examining, boredly, various insurance policies as he sat in the quiet of his study.

Heavy pounding at his temples pained him.

His mind was in a dilemma.

Yet, it was definitely narrowing to a horrible conclusion!

SUDDENLY, he heard racing footsteps.

"Frank! Frank!" Anne cried excitedly as she opened the door of the study, "look, a telegram from Mr. Dennis."

Frank snatched it from her hand.

HAVE PURCHASED JOHNSON WEAVING COMPANY; APPOINT YOU GENERAL MANAGER; PLANT WITHIN COMMUTING DISTANCE.

Frank was too emotional to speak.

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

"LIGHTNING WAR," a blitzkrieg of blood and steel, has brought hell to Europe.

Can a blitzkrieg of prayer bring heaven to America—the heaven of abiding peace?

In the quiet Convent of Mary Reparatrix, in New York City, they believe it can, and are going to test their faith to the test. For nine days the Nuns—and all who will join them—hold America regardless of creed, color or peace at St. Leo's Church at 9 . . .

Will it work? We're every other form of preparedness in the light-morn days, banking our dollars on our faith on every death-dealing device, WOULD PRAYER PROVE AS POTENT AS TNT? DO WE NEED TO GO DOWN ON OUR KNEES AS WELL AS INTO OUR POCKETS TO SAVE AMERICA?

MANY WILL AGREE that we do. But many more will smile a little scornfully at that question—say that prayer is based on emotion and has no place in our scheme of things. All right, but your own way, neighbors—but I don't agree with you.

I'm not a Catholic, nor a shining example of any other creed. But I get around. And every day of my life I see countless proofs of the power of prayer.

The trouble with most of us is that we think of prayer as a special, supernatural rite to be accompanied by mysterious reactions; whereas it's actually the most simple and necessary function of our common life. Everything we do or have or are is the result of prayer.

AND so I'm backing that Solenne Novena by my little sisters of the Convent of Mary Reparatrix with all my faith and gratitude. They are a great example to every patriotic American whatever his creed.

While the rest of us talk and wring our hands they are going straight to the source of all action. And for nine days and nights, while the rest of us sleep and play, they will be praying.

Will the Father who answered America's first prayer on that stern and rocky shore hear their cry now in this hour of our darkest need? I'm thinking He will. I'll be asking Him, too. Why don't you?

We own 29,000,000 of the 43,000,000 motor vehicles in the world. Fifty-four per cent of all American families own cars. There is one automobile for every 4.3 persons, compared to one for every 142 persons in the world at large.

Four out of five American homes have electricity. Twenty-two million of America's 26,000,000 homes are wired. Approximately every second home has a vacuum cleaner, a washing machine, electric refrigerator and an electric toaster.

There are 28,000,000 homes with radios—over 40,000,000 radios.

Seven to ten thousand million dollars a year is spent by Americans for recreation and pleasure—$58 to $30 per person.

Fifty per cent of all the telephones of the world are in the U. S. A.—one for every seven persons.

Three and a half million families live on farms THAT THEY OWN.

THESE ARE ONLY A FEW of the colossal accomplishments of Americans when they are LEFT ALONE.

They throw a piercing light on the recent statement of Henry Ford that he could turn out one thousand planes a day if the government "KEPT ITS HANDS OFF."

We are not so much in danger of invasion as we are of STRANGULATION by such persons as Senator Josh Lee, of Oklahoma, who is ready with a bill to confiscate nearly all private wealth in case we should go to war.

The confiscation of incomes will destroy all that is distinctly American—INITIATIVE.

In back of Senator Lee there stands a number of "regimenters" and stranglers, whose sinister purpose is to turn us into a robotized, collectivized state, no different in essence or in fact from Russia, Germany and Italy.

Discipline—yes. Team-work—yes.

But confiscation, regimentation and mass-slavery—NO!

That would mean the destruction of our democracy FROM WITHIN.

THE FATE OF THE RACE, spiritually and materially, is in the hands of the modern woman, says Dr. W. Waldemar W. Argow of Syracuse, N. Y.

Addressing the baccalaureate service at Stoneleigh College, Rye, N. H., a few days ago, Dr. Argow explained:

"I contend that the women of the world could put an end to war if they only realized the power they have at their disposal.

"When once women begin to assert that power, which is not a mailed fist or a sword, we men would be on our knees begging for mercy.

"Women's power is the most potent on earth. Not a shot need be fired, and not a single law be enacted to enforce it."

Dr. Argow is undoubtedly right. Women are the creative and constructive sex.

Not only can they cast more ballots than men on election day, but also they own 70 per cent of the private wealth of the nation, are beneficiaries of 80 per cent of the life insurance, control 75 per cent of the estates that are probated, have 75 per cent of the savings accounts, totalling more than $14,500,000,000, and enjoy a collective fortune exceeding $200,000,000,000.

Banded together, as thousands are in the National Legion of American Mothers and similar organizations, they are bound to exert a sobering influence on masculine warrior instincts.

It is true, of course, that some women in the public eye are as battle-minded as the most militant men. But such women are in the minority, their outbursts generally attributed to hysteria.

The real woman thinks of her child, his present security and his future happiness.

On The Side

THOSE hooded effect things women are wearing make them look as if they are about to start cleaning the house. But the women seem to think said hoods make them look cute, sweet and innocent like Little Red Riding Hood. . . . Expecting a blessed event, sir? Want to know whether it is going to be a boy or a girl? Easy to tell. If the expectant mother's heart beats a little more per minute than usual it will be a girl. Well, that's what I heard, anyhow.

ARE YOU FAT and forty but not so fair, lady? Then read "How to Be Young Again," by Ann Delafield in The Cosmopolitan. . . . Henry Ford says a combination of an automobile and aeroplanes is surely coming. Thing that always puzzles me about the future in which the air will be full of planes and flying automobiles as the highways are now full of cars is how are people going to protect themselves and their houses from the flying machines that accidentally fall from the sky? . . . Some observations on women from this department's Horses and Women research files: "They say there are 67 ways in which a woman can like a man"—Alfred Sutro. . . . "Every woman who hasn't any money is a matrimonial adventurer"—Bernard Shaw. . . . "The great ambition of women, believe me, is to inspire love"—Moliere. . . . "This I set down as a positive truth. A woman without a positive hump, may marry whom she likes!"—

FLIRTING ENHANCES DIXIE DUNBAR'S BEAUTY
But It's Dangerous, Particularly in Summer, Durling Warns

Thackeray . . . "I expect that woman will be the last thing civilized by man"—George Meredith.

ALMA ARCHER, the expert on love and beauty, is a little worried because a number of husbands have written her protesting she has preached a dangerous doctrine and one likely to have a bad effect on impressionable wives in saying "flirting is an excellent beauty treatment. It makes a woman's heart beat faster, stimulating her blood stream on which color and texture of skin depend. It makes her glands function, brightens her eyes, even adding gloss to her hair." I agree with the aforementioned husbands in their protests. That is a "dangerous doctrine," especially during the summer when so many wives are at the seaside while their husbands remain in the city.

THEY CAUGHT a gray man-eating shark off the north Jersey coast the other day. I think I will do all my swimming in the pool. . . . Heard a fellow who receives $2500 a week for talking on the radio say Napoleon was a corporal. Napoleon was never a corporal. He was educated in the French military school equivalent to our West Point and was always an officer.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

MY DAY

NEW YORK, CITY, June 25—We went down to the station Sunday night and saw the President and his party off for Washington with much regret, for the country is very lovely and it is possible to forget for a little while how horrible conditions are in much the rest of the world.

I drove through the woods just as the sun was setting Sunday night, a most mysterious magic hour. There was a soft light on the deep green leaves.

A fat woodchuck scuttled across the road ahead of me.

How can one think of these woods converted into a battlefield? Peace seems to be in the heart of them and yet. I remember some just like them outside of Paris and in the forests of Germany and England.

I motored back to my own cottage and slept on my porch, to wake to fog and rain yesterday morning. Our drive to New York City was cold and somber all the way.

I WENT FIRST to visit Mrs. Stephen Wise's refugee home. The three houses she has taken over must indeed seem a cheerful haven to strangers landing on our shores.

I wish we could receive everyone who comes to this country with the same spirit which Mrs. Wise and her colleagues have been able to create in these houses.

One thing seemed rather pathetic to me and that was the absence in the rooms of any personal effects. Only the children had left their mark with a doll or toy, and so few of these. My heart ached for what this represented in hardship and break with all former ties.

From there I went straight to my apartment to meet two girls from Alaska, who came here to be present at Alaska Day at the New York World's Fair. They had four days in Washington and told me it had seemed to them far too little, but they are now enjoying New York City.

They said Alaska seemed very far away from the European situation, but when it came to what the Russians and the Japanese were doing in the Far East, they felt very close to any troubles which might arise.

The fact that a Japanese delegation was in Berlin yesterday made more impression on them, I think, than the capitulation of the French.

It is quite evident from the news we read in the newspapers that the Germans have learned only bitterness and no wisdom from past history.

They are exacting even more severe terms from their conquered enemies than were exacted of them. They go on the theory, I suppose, that only by completely wiping out the strength of a conquered nation can they be sure of remaining in power.

This is a rather hopeless attitude if you have any faith in friendly relations between nations being in the end the strongest of ties and the greatest protection against future war.

TALLULAH ORDERS WRONG DISH

T. Bankhead

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, June 25—"Tallulah Bankhead, who vowed not to touch any spirits until the Allies win, dined at the French Pavilion and ordered crepes suzette," Earl Blackwell informs at Leone's. "Tallulah suddenly remembered and gasped: 'Oh, why did I order crepes suzette with brandy in it? I should've had it with Coca-Cola.'" . . . Paramount is pulling a sleight in Allen Rivkin's "Dancin' on a Dime," which will be one of the top musicals of the year, "a Hollywood arrival reports at the Gay 90's. 'It's about a WPA show stranded when the Federal Theater closed.'" . . . "The 'Bundles for Britain' agency is quite puzzled because of a package which just arrived," a member of the committee confesses at the Kit Kat. "In that package was a hand-knitted sweater—with three sleeves!" . . . "Don't you know me?" Barbara Bannister tells a producer at the Versailles. "I'm very famous—because I'm the girl who never has gone out with Tony Martin."

MARTHA RAYE

"BEFORE I left Paris," Irving Marks, the theatrical agent who arrived last week, reports at the Cafe Pierre, "I saw Sascha Guitry. He got out in time and will come to America in September. Henri Bernstein went to London. Dita Parlo, who was signed for Orson Welles' picture, was put into a concentration camp, because she's a refugee" . . . "If you find out the name of the person with whom Justice Frank Murphy went to Arizona," a lawyer suggests at Toots Shor's, "you'll have a good story" . . . Martha Raye is lifted onto the shoulders of George Raft and Leo Durocher to pose for a photo at the Hurricane. "Come on, Leo," the cameraman coaxes, "smile—as if you just made a run." Martha screams: "He just did!"—and points to a newly-made run in her stocking.

"JOE BRYAN 3d, the magazine editor who just resigned, is writing a play with Finis Farr," an agent reports at the Tavern. "The play, 'Parade Rest,' will be on Americanism. They're starting to write it on July 4th!" . . . "I asked James Hilton, who wrote 'Good-bye, Mr. Chips,' to look at our production of 'Tom Brown's School Days.'" Gene Towne stands at the Stork Club. "Hilton was very nice—and wrote an endorsement of our picture."

"DARRYL ZANUCK will make up his mind this week," a studio employee declares at Longchamps, "whether he'll do the Sonja Henie picture or pay her the $150,000 and forget about it!" . . . "I saw Bill Dodd, Jr., at Cafe Society," one of his friends informs. "He has just finished writing his book—based upon the Berlin diaries left by his late father, the ex-Ambassador to Germany. Bill is looking for a publisher."

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Don Budge declined grudgingly an invitation to play the drums with Mickey Alpert's orchestra at the Coconut Grove. . . . The gangling tennis champ and a party of Boston admirers went ringsiding after the weather man predicted more showers for today in Boston and vicinity, (including Longwood) . . . Don's hobby is drumming, and he handles the sticks like a pro. . . . The Massachusetts delegation is in a "spot" at Philadelphia. . . . If it deserts Congressman Joe Martin after the first ballot, there's a bare chance that it might have to fall in line again with the "native son" in a Martin sweep initiated by other delegations. . . . If the Willie boom explodes, smart fellows are saying that Hoover or North Attleboro Joe will be the dark horse, or horses.

SPEAKING OF HORSES—anything can happen at a race-track, and we don't mean to emphasize the startling triumph of George W. "Man About Boston" Clarke in winning his first daily double in twenty years of racing. . . . (That happened Saturday and the pay-off was eighteen dollars and some change). . . . A much more unusual incident occurred at Suffolk Downs with a lady fan as heroine. . . . She had bought a ticket on a "wrong horse," i. e.: not the one on which she intended to bet. . . . And the horse won. . . . The woman was so grateful that she planted herself at the edge of the lane from the track to the paddock, and proceeded to express her thanks to all the jockeys that had mounts in the heat.

"THANK YOU VERY MUCH for not beating my horse," was her surprising message to the first jockey who had weighed out. . . . "Thank you very much for not beating my horse," she repeated as rider after rider strolled up the paddock lane to the showers. . . . A small knot of baffled horse-players had now formed a cluster around her as the strange performance continued.

FINALLY, JOCKEY J. MEARLE, who had ridden the winner, made his appearance. . . . But the excited woman didn't know one jockey from another. . . . At this point, one of the bystanders decided to prevent a faux pas. . . . "Now this here jock, lady, that's Jockey Mearle and he rode the winner," was the advice the friendly fellow gave her. . . . "So you don't want to thank him for not beating your horse, understand?" . . . She did. . . . And she had saved her sweetest smile for the last of the jockeys. . . . But her greeting was negative. . . . As young Mearle, escorted by his valet, passed her spot at the fence, he woman leaned over and shouted: "Thank you very much for not letting them beat my horse!" . . . Jockey Mearle looked up, shook his head, and walked on.

THE SOUTH-AMERICAN way of naming all changed nightspots so that the tropical influence is indicated—continues. . . . For instance, the erstwhile Red Fox, in Wareham, has become "The Zombie." . . . And Bill Hennessey's place in the very middle of the temperate zone (Washington street just above Dover) has become "El Bolero." . . . Although The Casino, at Old Silver Beach, maintains its name and appointments, a stranger to the Cape who might be familiar with the

RICHARD DIX TAKES UP ACTING AGAIN

Pinch-Hitting for Louella O. Parsons Who Is on Vacation

HOLLYWOOD, June 25—It took exactly two story conferences to convince Richard Dix that he wasn't a producer. Dix, who announced not long ago that he was forming his own company, says he soon found out how little he knows about the production end of pictures and he's grateful that he learned the lesson without cost. He'll stick to acting and will let Harry Sherman have the production headaches. Dix and Sherman are talking terms for a two-year four-picture-a-year deal. In addition to the popular "Hopalong Cassidy" series, Sherman makes several bigger budget specials for Paramount and the Dix starters would be in that class.

Rich is now making "Cherokee Strip" for Sherman, and if the contract deal goes through he'll follow with "The Roundup." Macklyn Arbuckle's oldtime stage hit. It's already in preparation and Announcer Don Wilson, who's becoming quite a screen personality, has been signed for an important comedy role.

ANITA LOUISE

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Maybe you think there wasn't a lot of choking and wrong-way-swallowing among the lunchers at the Hollywood Derby when Lana Turner, Artie Shaw and Greg Bautzer walked in TOGETHER and proceeded amicably to have lunch; nobody seems to know that Phillips Holmes and Betty Rich, 22-year-old Hey-Hills gal, were quietly wed at Tia Juara last week and immediately afterward flew to Chicago, where Phil will do a big air-show.

MUCH HILARITY at that downtown burlesque house when Mischa Auer, Edgar Kennedy and Eddie Quillan got up on the stage and held forth for hours. Quillan danced and Mischa did a strip tease; Alex Korda got back in town Sunday and so did the Gary Coopers; Marcel Roger, Wes Ruggles' heart, is here, too, after stopping over in Tucson to visit Wes at the "Arizona" location. Marcel has been in France visiting her mother.

ANITA LOUISE and Buddy Adler move into their new Westwood home Wednesday. They've been living in an apartment since the wedding; Knute Boone is down with the flu; Helen Parrish showed up at Casa Mama with three escorts—not including Forrest Tucker, who was at Cro's with Martha O'Driscoll; Bart Marshall lunched with his ex-wife, Edna Best, at the Warner commissary; Eugene Leonovitch is back in town after a trip East to see with her own eyes how "Four Sons" is doing.

TWO-MINUTE STORY

FIRE DESTROYED the Dennis Weaving Company late last night. Starting in the cotton bin in the picker room, the flames swept through the main building and with incredible speed enveloped the entire structure.

Frank Carlton, while having breakfast, couldn't read any further. To think that after five years as head designer he was now out of work. Besides, Mr. Dennis, the owner of the plant, was not going to rebuild.

Mrs. Anne Carlton, who was silently eyeing Frank with sympathetic gestures, spoke up softly:

"Frank, darling, please, I realize how you must feel but we will get along, somehow, I just know we will."

"But, Anne, all our money is in this new home and if we can't continue payments the bank . . . Oh, you know what will happen."

FRANK swallowed hard, got up, put on his hat and coat and rushed out the door shouting to Anne:

"I'm going to look for a job."

The day went into waste and other days and weeks that followed. Though Carlton was well known and his designing was superlative, there were no openings.

They scoffed at his appeal to accept him as a plain mill hand.

Tonight Frank was examining, balefully, various insurance policies as he sat in the quiet of his study.

Heavy pounding at his temples pained him.

His mind was in a dilemma.

Yet, it was definitely narrowing to a horrible conclusion!

SUDDENLY, he heard racing footsteps.

"Frank! Frank!" Anne cried excitedly as she opened the door of the study, "look, a telegram from Mr. Dennis."

Frank snatched it from her hand.

HAVE PURCHASED JOHNSON WEAVING COMPANY; APPOINT YOU GENERAL MANAGER; PLANT WITHIN COMMUTING DISTANCE.

Frank was too emotional to speak.

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

"LIGHTNING WAR," a blitzkrieg of blood and steel, has brought hell to Europe.

Can a blitzkrieg of penner bring heaven to America—the heaven of abiding peace?

In the quiet Convent of Mary Reparatrix, in New York City, they believe it can, and are going to put their faith to the test. For nine days, the Nuns—and all who will join them throughout America—regardless of creed—will hold a Solemn Public Novena pleading for peace at St. Leo's Church at 9 East 28th St.

Will it work? We're rushing every other form of prayerfulness in these nightmare days, banking our dollars and our faith on every death-dealing device. WOULD PRAYER PROVE AS POTENT AS TNT? DO WE NEED TO GO DOWN ON OUR KNEES AS WELL AS INTO OUR POCKETS TO SAVE AMERICA?

MANY WILL AGREE that we do. But many more will smile a little scornfully at that question—will say that prayer is based on superstition and has no place in our modern scheme of things. All right, have it your own way, neighbors—but I don't agree with you.

I'm not a Catholic, nor a shining example of any other creed. But I get around. And every day of my life I see countless proofs of the power of prayer.

The trouble with most of us is that we think of prayer as a special, supernatural rite to be accompanied by mysterious reactions; whereas it's actually the most simple and necessary function of our common life. Everything we do or have or are is the result of prayer.

AND so I'm backing that Solomon Novena by my little sisters of the Convent of Mary Reparatrix with all my faith and gratitude. They are a great example to every patriotic American whatever his creed.

While the rest of us talk and wink our hands they are going straight to the source of all action. And for nine days and nights, while the rest of us sleep and play, they will be praying.

Will the Father who answered America's first prayer on that stern and rocky shore hear their cry now in this hour of our darkest need? I'm thinking He will. I'll be asking Him, too. Why don't you?

THE DRESSMAKER, caterer, florist and anyone else having anything to do with the smooth running of Louise Ranney's wedding on Saturday will have to complete their arrangements with the bride before Thursday . . . for from then on she will be too busy with a continuous round of partying to devote any time to details of the wedding . . .

Louise and her bridegroom-to-be, Robert Lyman Thayer, of Philadelphia, are going to spend the summer at Vineyard Haven, and in the fall will reside in Philadelphia where Bob is to continue his studies at the University of Penn Law School . . . many of the parties will be in the nature of a farewell to the bride, who has been an active and popular member of Boston's younger set for several years . . .

Thursday afternoon the bridesmaids will be entertained at luncheon by Jean Thayer, sister of the bridegroom, and that evening all the wedding party will be given a dinner by Louise's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Baldwin Wellington of The Gateways, Weston, followed by dancing at Seiler's Ten Acres . . . Friday's luncheon will be given by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Thomas D. Cabot, at her home, Hidden Hearth, Weston, and following the wedding rehearsal at 6:15 that evening, all concerned will gather for cocktails and a buffet supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald G. Monks.

Ceremony in Weston Church

THE CEREMONY in the First Parish Church, Weston, Saturday at four will be solemnized by the bride's uncle, Rev. Palfrey Perkins of Kings Chapel . . . and the reception will be at the home of the bride's father, Dudley Porter Ranney . . .

Louise made her debut in the fall of 1935, after graduating from the Lee School, and belongs to the Junior League and Vincent Club . . . Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin S. Thayer of Alden Park, Philadelphia, received his degree from Harvard in 1933 and belongs to Iroquois, the Harvard Club of Boston and Starswood Club of the U. of Penn . . .

ADDED to the long list of summer weddings is that of Frances Walker of Concord who will be married to Frederic M. Schaefer, Aug. 10 at Wianno . . . The Episcopal ceremony will be followed by a reception at the summer home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Walker.

because of 'REGULAR' PAIN

Explaining is difficult when you have to break appointments because of menstruation's functional pain. Yet how easy many women now find it to relieve such pain — to carry on in comfort — with the aid of Midol! Midol contains no opiates. It is a new formula, developed for its special purpose. One Midol ingredient is prescribed frequently by many doctors, probably by your own. Another ingredient, exclusively in Midol, increases the comfort most users enjoy by reducing spasmodic pain peculiar to the menstrual period.

If you have no organic disorder needing surgical or medical care, don't hesitate to try Midol. It should help you. If it doesn't, consult your doctor. Get Midol at any drugstore. Five tablets, enough for a convincing trial, only 20c. Forty cents for 12 tablets.

Following a trip to Washington, Mr. McCurdy and his bride will live in Watertown.

Love

He's Unfair To Both

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

A certain young man, who has been taking me out, is engaged to another girl, and goes to see her week-ends, as she lives in a nearby city. I have tried to get him to break off with me as long as he continues to see this other girl, but he insists on calling me on the phone and makes a date once a week at least, sometimes twice.

I don't intend to ask him to break his engagement, although I am terribly fond of him. He tells me he and his fiancée don't get along very well, and that she's the one who calls him and makes the dates. He has asked me to be patient. And I have been that for a year now. Don't you think that's long enough to decide on which girl he wants? He sees her as often as he did when we first met.

WONDERING. I don't think this man is fair to either of you. You say he is engaged, spends as much time with the other girl as he did when you first met. Then he begs you to be patient, and says this girl arranges the dates. The situation suggests Adam when he said, "The woman tempted me."

This young man should come right out in the open and make a decision. His idea of keeping two girls dangling is inexcusable. I'd advise you not to take him too seriously.

Warm Day Menus

By MARTHA LEE

When you're planning warm day menus, be sure to give the "Three S's"—that summer combination of fragrant soup, crisp salad and substantial sandwich—a chance to take over the responsibility of your mealtime success.

You'll find this trio perfect for the part, as happy a menu selection as you've ever made. Each is simple to prepare, all are tempting to the jaded appetite and there is enough variety among them to warrant the serving of a "Three S's" menu often.

In the realm of soups, for example, you'll find 23 different canned home-style masterpieces of flavor.

"THREE-S" DINNER

Spring Soup Crackers
June Fruit Salad Bowl
Peanut Butter and Pickle Sandwiches
Egg and Olive Sandwiches
Chocolate Brownies
Tea

SPRING SOUP

1 medium (16-oz.) can vegetarian soup
1 medium (16-oz.) can cream of asparagus soup

Combine the two soups in a saucepan. Stir while heating to scalding point. Do not boil. Serve at once. Makes 4 generous servings.

JUNE FRUIT SALAD BOWL

Pare one grapefruit and two large oranges with a knife, then cut the sections loose from the membrane. Cut one fresh pineapple into one-inch slices, then peel and dice. Hull and wash one pint of strawberries. Combine these fruits and chill. Just before serving, slice two or three bananas into the mixture. Arrange in a salad bowl lined with small pieces of curly endive or lettuce. Serve with mellow fruit French dressing. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

MELLOW FRUIT FRENCH DRESSING

1 tsp. paprika
1/4 tsp. salt
2 tsp. sugar
1/2 cup distilled white or cider vinegar
1/2 cup fruit juice (2 tbsp. each orange and grapefruit juice)
1 cup salad oil
Mix above ingredients in order given. Beat thoroughly with a rotary egg beater.
Place in a covered jar in the refrigerator and shake well each time before using.

PEANUT BUTTER AND PICKLE SANDWICHES

1/2 cup peanut butter
2 tsp. butter
1/2 cup chopped sweet mixed pickles
1/2 tsp. finely minced onion
1 tsp. caraway seed
1/4 tsp. salt
Dash of pepper
Blend the two butters together, add other ingredients and mix well. Spread between slices of whole wheat bread.

EGG AND OLIVE SANDWICHES

1 1/2 doz. ripe misalio olives, chopped
1/2 doz. hard cooked eggs, finely diced
1/4 cup India relish
1-3 cup prepared salad dressing
1/2 cup tsp. salt
Combine all ingredients and mix lightly. Spread between buttered slices of bread. Insert leaves of lettuce, then cut in halves. Makes 6 sandwiches.

Bleach Your Skin

by using
Mercolized
Wax Cream

This dairy cosmetic lightens the complexion, fades freckles and bleaches sun-tanned skin. Use as directed to quicken the natural shedding of the outer layer of lifeless surface skin and reveal the prettier, younger looking skin beneath. Mercolized Wax Cream has been a popular Skin Bleach and Beautifier for 30 years. Used and praised by thousands. Satisfies Astringent lightens loose surface skin. Gives a delightful sense of freshness. Reduces excess surface oil. Dissolve Satisfies Astringent in one-half pint witch hazel and use daily. Photocolor Duplicator removes unsightly facial hair quickly. Pleasant and easy to use.

Sentimental Surroundings

IT'S A reminder of a much more romantic era . . . a first name embroidered in flowing script, and pinned with a flower . . . on a cologne-sprinkled hankie. The Victorians must have thought of it . . . it has that gently sentimental air. And it acquires an intriguing perversity when it is used as a white accessory, pointing up a white collar and a white hat. Burel designed this handkerchief. The letters are daintily embroidered in pastels against a petit-point flower. Boston department stores feature it.—ANNICE BRINK.

'Cosmogenic' Make-Up Kit Arrives---Get Yours!

By ARLINE GOULD

TECHNICOLOR taught some make-up lessons . . . not only to the movies, but to the make-up experts. And as a result a new word was created, "cosmogenics."

It has to do with your achieving almost any desired effect in make-up . . . even retouching the shape of your face with light and dark foundations . . . or minimizing a bad feature, or emphasizing a good one! As for the color magic and complexion-smoothers that "cosmogenic" make-up could endow your personality with . . . that's a story in itself!

As a result, a brand new kit has arrived in town . . . and the kit itself is sensational! In it are seven make-up aids, in the handiest kind of stick form, including a lipstick brush, mascara brush and eyebrow pencil! The whole thing is only a dollar. There is a booklet which gives you complete instructions on making up so that you get the same glorious effects that Technicolor has put on the screen.

Every shade of make-up foundation included has the unusual quality of coating over with silken glamour every sign of a blemish. It's waterproof, too. And the colors are ravishing . . . in either the foundation, or the lipstick (also in stick form) or the mascara. You can easily learn to vary your make-up for daytime, for evening, or to harmonize with the color you choose to wear.

If you'd like to find out all about this exciting new "cosmogenic" make-up kit for $1, which includes everything in varying shades, from silken, opaque foundation to eye shadow, phone Arline Gould 111 City 4000, week days except Saturday, or write, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Study Illustrating At Home

Who, with a liking for drawing, hasn't thought of being an illustrator?

The variety of the work appeals as well as the good pay and the contacts with important people. But when necessity confines you to a routine job, it all seems a well-off-the-wasp dream. How can you make it reality?

One road that many successful illustrators followed is to study. Charts can show you how to analyze the figure in simple geometric forms, how to draw it in action.

In our 40-page booklet, a simple course in illustration and advertising art, a successful illustrator gives step-by-step instruction in drawing the figure. Tells how to add details of features, clothing, expression.

Send 15c in coins for our booklet, a simple course in illustration and advertising art, to Boston Evening American, Home Institute, 109 West 19th street, New York.

"LAND'S SAKE . . ."

with all this talk about fancy food, I wonder if some of you know how down-right delicious a slice of bread and butter can be. I mean real old-time bread with tasty baked-in flavor that'll make your mouth water.

Birthday Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Tuesday, June 25

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—You are destined to be sensitive, are serious, affectionate. One who will be entertaining and fond of home and family; perhaps a wit, surely a diplomat. You will, if given a chance, be an asset to any business or social group; a good citizen, a loyal friend. You will be happier, more successful, if your spiritual training is not neglected. Be sincere, eager to accomplish in a useful way.

LUCKY NUMBER — Today's lucky number is 71.

LUCKY COLOR—Today's lucky color is steel gray.

Send 15 cents and large self-addressed stamped envelope to Frances Drake, Boston American, Box 2228, Boston, for an individual horoscope, personal guide and lucky calendar for the first six months of 1940, giving the day and month you were born.

HARRY I. Day's amazing photo finish camera will reach new heights at the dog racing meeting at Wonderland Park when it will take pictures of the finishes of the various races from the outside as well as from the inside of the track. It is necessary to have two cameras in operation in order to do this.

HARRY I. DAY

that was first brought to New England by Narragansett Park. It was later used at Santa Anita and at other leading tracks.

There never has been a complaint of a picture of a finish of a race taken by the Harry I. Day camera.

In the past all pictures of finishes at Wonderland Park and at other dog tracks were taken from the inside of the track from a position on top of the judges' stand. In the event of nose finishes, there were persons who claimed that the dog nearest the camera received a shade the best of it.

Actual camera tests proved that this was not true, but until the Harry I. Day camera was installed at Wonderland Park there was not an actual check of finishes from each side of the track.

The public demands the latest and best in mechanical devices. Witness the camera, tote machine, Puett starting gate at the horse tracks, the electrically controlled boxes at the dog tracks and the electric timer that is attached to the Harry I. Day camera.

Harry I. Day has taken personal charge of his cameras at Wonderland Park. This means expert operation by the man who knows more about taking finishes of races than anyone else.

IF YOU WATCHED the greyhounds weighing in at Wonderland Park, you may have noticed each dog being checked by a card. This is a part of the Bertillon system that has been used at the Revere track. Dogs all have special markings, and they are checked before each race. This makes it impossible for a "ringer" to compete.

The dog race people have thrown every possible safeguard around the racing.

There is also the supervision of the Massachusetts Racing Commission headed by Chairman Charles F. Connors.

There has not been a single scandal connected with a dog race in this state. If the racing had not been conducted on a high standard, the sport would have been washed out here.

At the Revere opening President Eddie Gallagher, George Funk, Sheldon Fairbanks and the other officials at Wonderland Park were active in seeing that everything progressed smoothly.

The State Racing Commission has its staff on the job seeing that everything was conducted according to the law.

ERNEST HOFTYSER, advertising director of the Hearst newspapers in Boston, and a party of friends had a ringside table at The Lighthouse in Cohasset . . . This is the latest member of Hugo's family of South Shore eating places . . . The Lighthouse has an excellent orchestra and dancing . . . It occupies the former quarters of the Lobster Claw with additional space patterned after a lighthouse . . . I saw Hugo greeting his friends at The Lighthouse . . . U. S. District Attorney Edmund J. Brandon, Mrs. Brandon and Dr. Martin H. Spellman and Mrs. Spellman were also present at The Lighthouse . . . The Brandons have a Summer home at Cohasset.

John A. Macomber is certain to be helpful to Lou Smith at Rockingham Park . . . Macomber has agreed to accept a post as an honorary steward at the Salem, N. H., track, and he will give some of his time to advising Smith and the directors of the Rockingham track . . . Macomber owns swanky Raceland in Framingham . . . In the days before legalized racing in Massachusetts, Macomber used to have a free day of racing at his track each year at which time he acted as host for his many friends . . . The horses that competed at The Country Club would go to the Raceland meeting which was usually held on the following day.

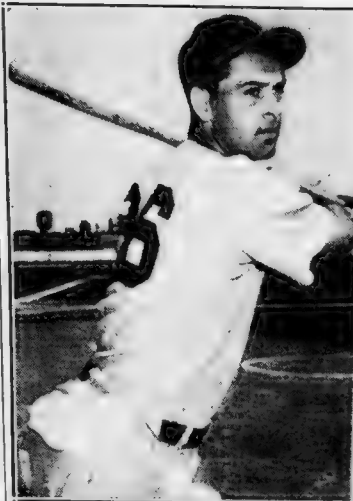

Dick Lincoln is once more on the job as professional at The Hatherly Country Club . . . Dick has been playing some Sunday golf with Attorney Charles W. Mulcahy of the Boston Elevated's legal staff . . . Tommy Carens of the Edison Co. is also active in the affairs of The Hatherly Country Club . . . The South Shore golf clubs report a pickup in membership.

George Blake entertained a party of friends at the Paddock Club at Suffolk Downs . . . And came up with a few winners at the races — I hope.

SOX IN LAST DITCH STAND TO SAVE WESTERN TRIP

DETROIT, June 25—Bloody but unbowed and all that sort of rot, don't you know, our bally Red Sox will on two occasions today attempt to force the Detroit Tigers to eat 'umble pie. Pp. pip.

Kid Steps Out

MIKE THE MACER—Myron (alias Mike) McCormick is only a rookie outfielder, but the McKechnie touch has sparked him to stardom with the Reds.

Bees, Reds Idle; 2 Tilts Tomorrow

Casey Stengel, who has a suspicion that his Bees have at long last found themselves, this morning nominated Richard Merriwell Erickson, right-hander who owns a record of four victories and one defeat, as his pitcher for the opening game of the series with the Champion Cincinnati Reds.

Erickson was booked to shoot for his fifth win yesterday but the rain stopped the series start.

BULLETIN

Rain and cold for the second day caused postponement of the Bees-Cincinnati Reds series opener at the Beehive today. The clubs play a twin bill tomorrow at the Hive, if the weatherman relents.

forming a double header for tomorrow's main at the Bee Hive. Stengel strings along with his act with Bill Posedel very likely to work in the other games of the twin-bill tomorrow.

Stengel was a bit disturbed over the postponement for the Reds came here fatigued after losing their way back onto the N. L. road in a disastrous series with the Giants while the Bees were idled and swinging their bats menacingly.

"I am just keeping my fingers crossed and hoping," said Stengel today when someone remarked that the Bees looked like they could beat anything in the circuit as they swept a twin-bill from the Cardinals Sunday.

"I will admit I am a little startled. The way they played Sunday was beyond all my expectations. Say, we got pitching and fielding and plenty of hitting, most of it timely. Maybe they'll keep it up and continue to win ball games. I knew these young fellows were going to get better as the season rolled along but I never suspected they'd improve so rapidly."

BEST YOUNGSTERS IN MAJORS

After several sorrowful weeks, which were characterized by the enforced trades of Tony Cuccinello and Al Lopez and a period of deep mourning at N. L. Field, Stengel is enjoying a few gay moments again and showing traces of sincere confidence.

There is no question but that he has remanded the most promising young squad in either league with nothing but improvement in sight. Yodanis Miller, Gene Moore, Chet Ross and Carvell Rowell are all hitting over .300.

Yeah folks, It's a double-header at Biggs stadium as the Hose make a last ditch stand to salvage what remains of a disastrous road trip during which they toppled, bumpety bump, from first to third place in the American League standing.

But these heah Tigahs are one of the outfits in front of them, the crybabies from Cleveland being the other, and a pair of wins today will leave em Conia only one team to catch, Detroit being but a game and a half in front.

Nominated to perform this by no means facile feat of twice topping the Tigers are Penny Gals house and Jack Wilson. Del Baker has chosen the rejuvenated veteran Schoolboy Rowe and young Hal Newhauser to say them may.

Rowe, incidentally, has been an extremely able my sayer for the Bengals thus far this year, having performed the "they shall not pass" business on five successive occasions. He are have yet to be punned back, in the figurative sense.

But enough of these gams. Let's see what the situation is in our own camp.

TEAM STILL CONFIDENT

For a club that has been hit with everything but the proverbial bucket during the past two weeks the Sox have a surprisingly healthy attitude.

Naturally there's a peeve here and a kipe there, it's to be expected in a talsipn of this sort, but as a whole the club is confident that their drive is over and they are just about ready to resume their winning ways.

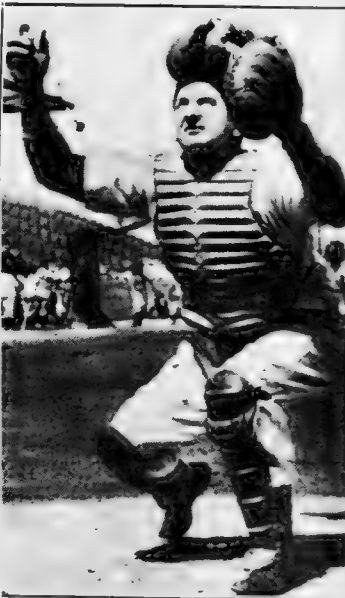

Williams' injury, of course, deprives the Boston club of power and they'll miss him. Di Maggio, however, is probably just about the best utility outfielder in baseball at present and if he can find himself on such short notice may never come out of the local lineup.

WILLIAMS MAY SEE GAME

Make no mistake about it when the Red Sox paid $50,000 for young Dom they got that much in player

Age Looks Up

IT'S AN OUT—You may be sure when veteran Ernie Lombardi squats thus firm you are a foul there's an out in the offing. Ernie's not so old, but he's venerable compared to youngsters like Mike McCormick. The combination of rookie and veteran had the Reds back on top of the N. L. world today. They face a twin bill with the bustling Bees tomorrow.

Harvard Torby Signs As Yank Outfielder

Torbert Macdonald, Harvard football, track and baseball standout who graduated the other day, signed with the New York Yankees today.

Torby was immediately assigned to the Newark club of the International League, Double A circuit, and will report in Buffalo on Thursday.

If he is successful this year there is a good chance for him with the Yankees, who have been limping along far back in the pennant race. It is likely that another year will see many changes in the Yanks' roster, since the champions show signs of coming apart at the hinges with age.

GOOD CHANCE FOR TORBY

For this reason a young, aggressive athlete of the Macdonald type has a far better opportunity with the Yanks than would have been thought possible before the current season started and the Bronx Bombers were odds-on choices to crush the American League again.

Torby, a Malden resident and son of Jack Macdonald, himself a former high school teacher-coach in Malden, attended Malden high briefly.

He completed his high school career at Medford, starting for two seasons with the football team, and then finished at Andover, whence he went to Harvard.

HELPED BEAT YALE
As a freshman he hit .413 with the Crimson nine, but didn't play varsity baseball for his sophomore and junior years, concentrating on football and track.

This year he went out for baseball, won an outfield job, and hit .384. He played an important role in Harvard's series win over Yale, and during the year many of his hits went for extra bases.

He is a brilliant sprinter, and probably will be the fastest man in professional baseball. Built on long, rangy lines, somewhat like Ted Williams though much heavier, he might develop into an outstanding baseball player.

OTHER HARVARD PLAYERS

Torby is the latest Harvard baseball player to head for the big leagues. Jocko Conlon played with the Braves in the middle twenties. He never hit hard enough to be a star, though his infieling was good.

Later Charley Devens, big pitcher, joined the Yanks, and probably would have become a major league star had he not quit baseball after a year for the business world.

Last year Ulysses Lupien, Harvard captain and slugging first baseman, signed with the Red Sox, and is now getting experience on a farm club.

Totem Pole Gals Take on Langley's

While the softball spotlight will be focused on the Olympics' Bridgeport game next Thursday evening at the Garden, the preliminary tilt between the Totem Pole Gals and the Langley Lassies of Portland, Me., bids fair to outshine the so-called feature event.

The Norumbega club, under the able management of Ben Levia, has been enjoying an unusually successful season so far. They boast victories over the Everett Angels, the Rhode Island All Stars, the Maher Girls of Waltham, and have defeated the present Massachusetts champions, the Home Service Girls of Worcester, twice.

Heroes and Goats

By International News Service
HEROES—Walt Judnick, St. Louis outfielder, who hit two homers as the Browns defeated Philadelphia.

GOATS—Johnny Babich, Philadelphia pitcher, whose home run pinch caused the Athletics' downfall.

RAIN STOPS FIGHT

WEST HAVEN, Ct., June 25 (AP)—The 12-round bout between Louis "Kid" Cocoa, New Haven welterweight, and Frankie Britt, of Fall River, Mass., scheduled for last night at Donaghy Field, has been postponed until Friday because of rain.

Dilboy Bouts Tomorrow

Amateur fight fans will be in for a slugfest in the heavyweight class when the Dilboy Post, V. F. W., stages its first boxing carnival of the summer season tomorrow night under floodlights at Dilboy Field, Somerville.

Four local boys, standouts in the simon-pure ranks this past winter, promise to spice the opening show with plenty of fireworks. In this group are Dave Bagley, Newton; Jerry Murnane, Dorchester; John Prezio, Boston, and Bill Dupree, Cambridge. Any one of this group is capable of walking off with the victory in this division.

Competition will be in the 126, 135, 147, 160 and heavyweight classes, all open. Entries may still be filed with Fred Russo, 8 Curtis st., Somerville, or in care of the Somerville City Hall.

Pastor Sees Win Over Eagle

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 25 (AP)—Aiming at a third engagement with Champion Joe Louis, Bob Pastor predicted Charley Eagle of Waterbury, Ct., "won't stand in my way long."

The heavyweight title contender, scheduled to meet Eagle here next Friday in a 10-round bout, arrived late yesterday by plane. With two weeks' training under his belt, Pastor said he expects to box five more rounds before stepping into the ring with Eagle.

Star Dust

(By the Associated Press)
Walt Judnick, Browns—Hit two home runs in three times at bat to help beat Athletics, 9-4.

Bob Feller, Indians—Held Yankees to seven hits and himself halted in two runs toward his 11th victory.

26 Ump's Soft Answer Turneth Away Wrath--'Beat It, Y' Mugs--'

EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, JUNE 25, 1940

SEARS VAUGHAN FRISCH KELLY
THEY HAVE FIRST WORD—Or rather, a blizzard of words have these Pirates and you'd think Umpire Ziggy Sears would be snowed under as Shortstop Floyd Vaughan, Manager Frank Frisch and Coach Mike Kelly let out a few inhibitions. They didn't like it when Sears ruled a double play on Brooklyn Joe Vosmik's catch of Bucc Bob Elliott's low fly in the tenth inning of the second game Sunday. Sears said Frank Gustine left second too soon, making the second out. You couldn't print what the boys said right back as this dramatic shot shows.

FRISCH VAUGHAN KELLY SEARS
HE HAS LAST WORD—"The back of my hands to you," is the gist of Ump Sears' remarks here as he waves Frisch and Kelly right out of the ball game. They don't appear very sad. But you'd see real remorse today if there was a third picture of Kelly's face as he contemplates a $50 fine and three-day suspension handed down by Ford Frick. The suspension is fun, but $50 minus is hitting a big leaguer where it hurts. Bucc infielder Lee Handley tossed a water bucket on the field, and Ump Jorda chased him too, and Frick tacked on a $25 fine to make Handley cautious next time.

Bees Play Host To Pace Setters

 At Piechota, Nick Strincevich, Bill Posedel, Dick Erickson, Lefty Joe Sullivan and Manuel Salvo give Stengel six starting pitchers, with Dick Coffman and Al Javery to relieve.
 In Sebi Sisti at third the Bees have a 19-year-old kid who may develop into one of the greatest in history, the best in the loop since Pie Traynor was at his peak. He's come along faster than any of the young Bees and looks better with each start. He's been hitting the ball solidly and for distance and his speed and ability to beat out bunts indicates that his batting average is going to be hoisted over .300 in short order.
 Hassett continues to play a good first base and, while his batting average can stand a few hits, Buddy is proving a good lead-off man, managing to get on base and Stengel says it is very necessary to get on base to score runs.
 From the camp of the enemy comes word that Whitey Moore will pitch today with Paul Derringer and possibly ex-mate Jim Turner twirling in the mid-week double-header.

 value. Finney's phenomenal play couldn't be ignored and as a result the youngster has spent weeks warning a bench.
 But he's really got it and all he needs is the opportunity to show that he has it. When the Sox drop into town at the end of the week the fans may have a new hero on their hands and his name will be Dom DiMaggio.

There's a possibility that Teddy may drop over for today's game if the doctors feel he is able. He's not really hurt but he was badly shaken up and a good rest won't hurt the boy. He's too valuable to lose permanently.

BURKE PACES STATE OPEN Baseball

By BILL GRIMES

OSTERVILLE, June 25—The Burke Brothers of Providence, R. I., were in the spotlight on two New England gold firing lines today.

Feller Whips Yankees, 7-1; Browns Belt Athletics, 9-4

CLEVELAND, June 25 (AP)—Bob Feller posted his 11th victory of the season here last night as the Cleveland Indians walloped the New York Yankees, 7 to 1, to increase their first-place margin over Detroit to two games. Feller gave up seven hits and fanned five.

Marius Russo started for the world champions, but gave way to "Bump" Hadley after a three-run Cleveland rally in the second. Atty Donald finished the game for the New Yorkers.

35,000 ON HAND
 The game, watched by a crowd of 35,000, was delayed 35 minutes by rain.

The Yankees scored their only run in the fifth on Hadley's double and a single by Frankie Crosetti.

Hal Trosky started the Indians' second-inning rally with a double and Beau Bell, Ben Chapman and Ray Mack followed with singles to plate two runs. Chapman scored on Feller's long fly.

Feller's single to right drove in Chapman, who had singled in the fourth and the Indians added two more in the sixth on two walks, "Babe" Dahlgren's error and a double by Lou Boudreau.

TRIBE BELTS 11 HITS
 Hadley retired for a pinch hitter in the seventh and the league leaders concluded their scoring.

with a run off Donald in the eighth on a walk and Rollie Hemmley's double.

Cleveland collected 11 hits, with every man in the lineup getting at least one safe blow except Ken Keltner.

Feller has lost four games. The defeat gives Russo a record of three and three.

Judnich's 2 Homers Pace Browns to 9-4 Win

ST. LOUIS, June 25 (INS)—Blasting four home runs in a 12-hit barrage, the Browns turned back Philadelphia, 9 to 4.

Walter Judnich paced the St. Louis attack with two homers, hitting one in the third and another in the sixth. Harland Clift smashed a three-run bagger in the sixth frame. Don Heffner clouted for the circuit in the fifth.

Eldon Auker stopped the A's with nine safeties in hanging up the victory, while Johnny Babich, replaced by Herman Besse, was charged with the loss.

Johnny Burke, 1933 national collegiate tilist, traveled the Ekwanok links in Vermont a stroke behind the pace-setter, Neil Croonquist of Minneapolis, with a one-over-par 71 in the first 18 holes of the N. C. A. A. play.

His brother, Edmund, Winno pro, posted cards of 69 and 72 here at Oyster Harbors to lead the Massachusetts open field of 76 by two strokes as the tournament enters the second and final day.

There are only three—possibly five—who have a chance to overhaul the pace setter in the Massachusetts open. But in all probability Edmund Burke's two-stroke lead will be too much to wipe out since the youngster is really hot. His outgoing card yesterday was three under par and he matched par over the in-coming nine.

Harold "Jug" McSpaden of Winchester, who was the Bay State open title holder for three years until he was relieved of his crown by Byron Nelson a year ago at Worcester, and Horton Smith of Chicopee have the best chance of all to overtake Burke, being deadlocked in runner-up position with cards of 143's.

Dave Hackney of the Vester Club is in the next best spot with a total of 146 while Tony Manero, Salem pro and 1936 National Open champion, and Gene Anderson, home pro, have an outside chance if either can post one of their best rounds—both being tied with totals of 148.

The rest of the field doesn't seem to have the slightest chance of even coming close.

Few Stripers Caught

COLD STILL AFFECTS BAY STATE FISHING

By DARK MONTREAL

Latest bulletin from the weather bureau predicts the ice will be out of Massachusetts lakes and streams by August 1.

Seriously, the unseasonable cold has severely affected the fishing as well as the fisherman, more so in the salt water than in the lakes and streams, which had already warmed up. With no heat to warm the flats on the low tide, Massachusetts Bay is much colder than ordinarily at this time of year. In consequence the mackerel have not come in to any extent, the striped bass fishing has slackened off except in the warm waters of Buzzards Bay and Vineyard Sound, and the tautog, which had begun to move on the rocky shoals went off-shore again. However, it can't hold much longer with fire-cracker day just around the corner.

No tuna taken yet. Paul Bauer fished the weekend off Halibut Point, Jefferson Ledge and Isles of Shoals. He sighted two or three fish in the distance, which, he said, "might have been tuna." But, he added, "they might also have been sharks."

Gene Muller of Braintree, who has had a tag on a Long Pond salmon ever since the start of the season, connected last week for two good ones while fishing at Bill Dupree of Plymouth, who also netted a fine specimen. Bill, by the way, nailed another of those big brown trout in that secret river of his, and lost it mate.

Freddy Perkins says:

Working into the big pool where Joe English brook loods around and backs into itself in the thick brush, just before the first of the meadow reaches, you gotta be a guy who can take his bugs and like 'em.

If they don't swell your eyes shut, or bleed you like a pig, they're just as apt to pick you right up bodily and carry you off. That's the kind of bugs we got this year up at Amherst, N. H.

But anyhow we made it to the pool. And nobody got bit to death except a feller we was figuring to shoot whatever come long to the end of the week because his cooking was so bad.

That pool is the way you'd know it would be. The end of it you can get at to fish is the end that ain't got nothing in it except bullfrogs and turtles.

But you can compromise and edge a ways into the alders, and most generally get some action for your night crawler.

Pete Woodman hooked right onto a couple of nice nine inchers. And after a while I managed to get my money's worth of fun from one I claimed had Pete's beat from Un-announced mountain to Purgatory Run.

Naw we didn't measure 'em. There's more fun in talk than statistics.

But all this time, Herbie Callahan, not knowin' any better, was wrestling round through the pine thicket toward the side of the pool nobody ever fishes on account of you can't hardly fight in there any time of year with your hands free and a squad of axmen chopping ahead of you.

But Herbie did it somehow. With rod in one hand, reel on hip—and the other hand scraping pound hunks of black flies and blood off his face and his neck.

He couldn't quite make the water edge. He had to poke the rod ahead and almost lie on his belly. And he dropped that crawler down with a prayer. And even then it landed on the bank.

I guess the biggest skeeter in Hillsboro county got Herbie just that minute. Anyhow he cursed and jumped and grabbed at his rod to give the whole fool business up.

And that was when that line and crawler got the jerk that dropped 'em into four feet of slow eddy where the current swings in under the overhang.

Herbie got action. And got it fast! The old he trout that hung out under that bank wasn't accustomed to be interfered with at mealtime! It made him mad. And he showed it!

It was lucky Herbie had him hooked solid. Because Herbie couldn't do much at first but hang on to the rod and buck thickets like a Yale ball carrier through a Harvard line.

It was a good fight while it lasted. And it lasted quite a while. Pete says 20 minutes. I say half an hour anyhow. Naw we didn't look at any wrist watches. We used our good fishing judgment. Like a fisherman should.

Well finally Herbie got that of sockedlegger eased in through the tree roots and the old log and had him up where he could be netted easy—if a feller had a net.

There was one place where a fish like that could be slid ashore in two or three inches of overflow. Only that was just out of reach of any spot Herbie could stand and keep his balance.

You know Herbie. He stepped back regardless. He swung his trout safe on the bank. An devil sidewise himself into four feet of brook.

It was a big trout. I'll say that. It was the biggest trout I ever saw caught. In that part of the state.

I won't tell you what Pete says. Because Pete's a guy that sometimes likes to exaggerate.

I'll let Herbie himself give you the lowdown. Herbie caught the trout. Herbie says:

"I didn't have no yardstick. But I measured with my rod joints. And mister, sure as I'm a fisherman, that fish didn't lack more than a hand's breadth of stretching from the reel seat to the first ferrule joint."

"How long is that? Well, mister, that is plenty doggone long!"

20,000 See Dog Opener

By SAM COHEN

Cold and rain couldn't keep them away from the opening of the Bay State dog racing season at Wonderland Park last night, so with 20,000 people wagering $186,489 there is every indication that this is to be the biggest of all big years for the greyhound sport.

There is no doubt but what this handle would have shattered the opening night record of $207,786 which was set in 1937 under the best weather conditions.

MANY SHUT OUT

The majority of the gathering remained until the tenth and final race was run off. So great was the gathering that many were unable to get under cover from the rain and stood out in the water drenched runways for most of the program.

Because of the many thousands bunched under the grandstand people couldn't get near the betting booths and thousands were shut out from the windows during each of the last seven races.

And although there were many new dogs among the starters on the opening ground, the gathering wasn't lacking in expert handicapping for six favorites came home in front, and in most of the other races the short money dogs were right up there.

RUBE PICKS SPOT

The biggest favorite of all of course was Rural Rube, who came back to resume his supremacy over the nation's leading greyhounds. The Rube, champion last year, romped off with the inaugural feature, beating Suwanee by several lengths while closing as a 1 to 5 favorite.

That was just how the Rube ran, too, for he slowed up at the first turn to avoid a collision and then sneaked into the rail to pull up on Suwanee at the head of the backstretch and go on to win easily.

The Rube paid but $260, 220 and 220 across.

American Dog Handicappers Set Hot Pace

The Boston Evening American Wonderland Dog Race Special got off to a flying start with all handicappers making a very creditable showing.

Harry "Red" Shpairo, ace handicapper making his debut in the American, came up with four winners and was close in most of the other races. Shpairo's winners were: Easy Sailing ($8.00); Whitley Maddox ($5.20); Rural Rube ($2.60); Teatout ($5.40).

Doc Baxter, also in the American Special as well as the Daily Record, also had four winners. They were Easy Sailing, Whitley Maddox, Game Bid $5.50 and Rural Rube.

The Consensus in the American Special had five winners: Hello Stranger ($9.60), Whitley Maddox, Hubert (6.60), Game Bid and Rural Rube.

Swiftly, another American selection, also had five winners, Big Brother ($5.80), Whitley Maddox, Game Bid, Rural Rube and Teatout.

Peace Delegate In Rome—

Arriving in Rome for negotiations with Italy, Gen. Charles Huntzinger, member of the four-man French delegation which signed an armistice with Germany, salutes a welcoming Italian officer. With the three other emissaries, Huntzinger was flown from Compiegne, France, aboard a Nazi plane (background). Shortly after photo was taken, delegates were received by Premier Mussolini.
